NEW ITALIAN, NAZI 'SQUEEZE' STIRS LONDON

Europe Turns Eyes to Britain As Chamberlain Prepares Important Speech.

HITLER TALKS MONDAY

Nazi Leader's Remarks Seen As 'Go Ahead' Signal For German Demands.

(By Associated Press)

Anxious Europe's attention turned today to England, where Prime Minister Chamberlain was expected to make an important speech amid rumblings of a new German-Italian "squeeze play" on France and Britain and the Spanish insurgents' almost unresisted victory drive.

In Berlin, Nazis interpreted the speech last night of Roberto Farinacci, a Fascist grand council member at Munich, as Italian Premier Mussolini's "go ahead" signal to Reichsfuehrer Hitler to state concrete German colonial ambitions.

'United and Strong'.

Farinacci predicted fulfillment of Nazi aims and declared Italy and Germany were "willing to take up the gauntlet for we are united and strong."

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels told Germans to toast a "Germany arisen again" on Monday when Nazis will celebrate their sixth anniversary of rule and Hitler will make a much-heralded speech to the reichstag.

The British prime minister's address tonight (4:30 p. m., Mansfield time) may be his most important since the war scare before the Munich "big four" parley last Sept. 29. It will be his first chance publicly to note the fears in the democracies over Generalissimo Francisco Franco's triumphs in Spain, Bellicose talk in Germany and the bitter French-Italian wrangle.

As long lines of half-starved people besieged food stations in Barcelona and thousands of refugees poured into France, insurgent armies shoved swiftly up the Mediterranean coast of northeast Spain.

Seizes Coast Towns.

Franco's troops were reported advancing on Arenys De Mar, 55 airlines miles from the French frontier. Villages along the costal highway to Cerbere and the inland road to Puigcerda, both important frontier towns, were said to have been captured.

Government dispatches said defense forces were falling back in good order and resisting to the full extent of their ability and ammunition. Government Premier Juan Negrin offered a ray of reassurance. He said the government had fresh fighters, "war material in abundance and the courage to come back."

Franco Considers Plan For Quick Mobilization.

PARIS—(AP)—The French cabinet today considered a new, quick mobilization system and a plan to add three months to France's two-year term of compulsory military service.

The military measures were discussed during a cabinet conference of more than two hours on developments in Spain and the threatening international situation.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet informed the ministers and President Albert LeBrun, who sat with them, of what he had described Thursday in the chamber of deputies as a situation which could become one "of force."

The discussion centered largely around what France should do in case Italian troops aiding the Spanish Insurgents should remain in Spain.

DAYTON—(AP)—A term of one to 20 years in the reformatory at Marysville was imposed upon Mrs. Helen Augustine, 43, of Dayton, by Judge Franklin Krehbiel today following her pleas of guilty to a manslaughter charge.

Charged with shooting her husband, Joseph, following a quarrel, last Nov. 3, she had changed her former plea of not guilty to a murder indictment to one of guilty on the manslaughter charge.

Traffic violations like the eight pictured above are responsible for the current campaign by the police department. Of the eight violations shown here, however, only one has been caught by police. Top row, left, a car parked in a no parking zone and too close to a fire plug. Top right, a car parked in no parking zone. Second row, left, parking in a safety zone; right a truck parked across the sidewalk. Third row, left, parked on the sidewalk at the Central Fire station; right, a tag (look closely) for parking beyond the time limit. DRIVERS IGNORE TRAFFIC DRIVE

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

There may be a sustained traffic law enforcement campaign underway in Mansfield, but Mansfield motorists go merrily on their way ignoring it.

On any street, at any hour of the day, you can find violations of almost any section of the traffic code. The pictures above are proof of that.

If you'll take a walk around a downtown block, you'll see the same thing for yourself. You'll find cars parked at fire hydrants, in front of theaters, parked the wrong way on the street—and sooner or later you'll have to get out in the street to cross an intersection because some car is parked half way across the crosswalk.

These are just a few of what Police Chief Meade K. Bates has termed "flagrant" violations of the city's parking laws, and the ones he has declared war on.

In a short stroll covering only two streets 21 "flagrant" violations were counted—and one traffic ticket was seen on a car. It

Pope Urges Franco To Use Clemency

PARIS—(AP)—Circles close to the French government reported today that Pope Pius had sent an appeal to Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco to adopt a policy of clemency in regard to refugees from government Spain who may fall into his hands.

The Pope also was said to have urged Franco to make some declaration encouraging refugees who have fled into France to return to their homes in Spain.

'TORCH VICTIM'

Plumber Burned to Death In Ruse by Sex Maniac.

CLIFFSIDE PARK, N. J.—(AP)—A man described by Police Chief Frank Borrell as a "sex maniac" was held in the psychopathic ward of the Bergen county home in Paramus today in connection with the torch slaying of John L. Scullion, a 50-year-old plumber.

Chief Borrell said the man, whom he identified as Anthony Mazur, 48, of Cliffside Park, lured Scullion to his home last night by asking for an estimate on some plumbing work, then poured turpentine over him and set him afire.

Neighbors who heard screams in the Mazur home called police. Scullion died two hours later.

Chief Joseph Borrell said Scullion, ablaze from head to foot, fell at his feet when he forced a locked front door.

Roosevelt, Beaten By One Vote, To Ask More WPA Funds Soon

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Beaten by one vote in their fight to restore a $150,000,000 cut in the relief bill, administration senators expressed certainty today that President Roosevelt would ask congress for a further WPA appropriation.

"It's just as sure as the sunrise tomorrow," said Democratic leader Barkley after the senate yesterday accepted, 47 to 46, the house-approved relief fund of $725,000,000.

"Under the bill," Barkley added, "the relief rolls will be retained at about the present 3,000,000 level during February and March, but a precipitate drop would occur the first of April. The president early in March will have to ask for an extra $150,000,000 to prevent that sharp decline."

The see-saw roll call, which kept senators and a crowded gallery in suspense until the last name had been read, completed a rebuff of the administration on the session's first major legislation.

Mr. Roosevelt in a special message had asked for $875,000,000 to operate the WPA until July 1. An economy-minded house committee chopped $150,000,000 from the appropriation. The house agreed to the reduction without a roll call.

HEAR PLEA FOR LEADERS AT C. OF C. DINNER

426 Jam Hotel at Annual Meeting, See P.T.A. President Win Service Award.

WELCOME BACK BROMFIELD

Tribute Paid to Williams as Report Shows Membership At All-Time High.

More than 400 members of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce jammed the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night for their annual dinner at which they heard two speakers plead for more leaders; welcomed Louis Bromfield back to Mansfield; saw a woman receive the meritorious service award for 1938, and paid a tribute to Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager, who leaves the city March 1 to head the Dayton C. of C.

It was the largest dinner meeting in the history of the chamber and it climaxed a year in which the chamber's membership soared to an all-time high of more than 600.

Honor Mrs. Boals.

The civic award for outstanding service to the community last year was presented to Mrs. F. David Boals, president of the Mansfield council of Parent-Teacher associations for her leadership in the successful school bond campaign last September.

In making the presentation of the award, a sterling silver bowl, Judge C. H. Huston, retiring president of the chamber, described Mrs. Boals as "the sparkplug, the dynamo that put into motion and carried to successful conclusion the bonding of the community for $550,000 to meet the city's share of a much needed school building program."

"Only the future will be able to properly evaluate the services rendered to this community by the recipient of this award and by those who had part in that forward program," Judge Huston said.

Selected by Committee.

A secret committee which selected Mrs. Boals as recipient of the award, based their selections on the school building program as the "greatest single progressive forward step made by the city of Mansfield in the past 15 years," the judge said.

Nathaniel Leverone, widely known Chicago business leader, and head of a nation-wide candy distributing company, shared the speakers' platform with Cullen Wright, known as the cowboy-humorist of Omaha, Neb.

Leverone, who interspersed his address with humor and stories which kept his audience in laughter, asserted the "gravest faults" of the American people was their failure to encourage leaders.

"We need leaders," he declared, "leaders who will understand and who are willing to sacrifice."

He cited numerous instances of

JAPS REPULSED BY GUERILLAS

Defeated In Attempt to Land Troops Near Pakhoi.

SHANGHAI — (AP) — Japanese forces from Waichow Island, off the South China coast, were said today to have been repulsed when they attempted a landing near Pakhoi, Kwangtung province town near French Indo-China.

In the Hangchow area, 100 miles down the coast from Shanghai, heavy fighting continued with the Japanese recapturing Fuyang, southwest of Hangchow, while Chinese guerillas raided the outskirts of Hangchow itself.

In North China, 2,000 Japanese and Manchoukuoan troops were said to have been ambushed as they were attempting to cross the Yellow river on ice into Shensi province.

'Only Part of My Job,' Says Civic Award Winner

C. of C. Honor for Meritorious Service Goes to Woman Who Led Drive to Put Over School Bonds.

By JANE WILLIAMS

Mansfield's second annual award for meritorious service and civic achievement was made last night to a woman—not, we hasten to add, a professional woman, a business executive, nor a woman official, but to one who makes her own jelly, mends her husband's socks and prepares three meals a day.

It was an unusual honor that came to Mrs. F. David Boals, 32 Highland avenue, last night at the annual dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, for the 450 men who attended obviously concurred with the opinion of the committee in selecting her as the Mansfield citizen who had contributed most to the progress of the city last year.

Turned Tide on Bonds.

It was her organization work, as president of the Council of Parent-Teacher associations, that changed Mansfield's vote on its half million dollar school bond at the special election last summer and gave this city a million dollar school building program.

Between the first election last August when the bond issue was defeated and the special election a month later at which it was passed, Helen Boals worked up an organization that might have left a political campaigner gasping for

STRIKE SETTLED

Martin Claims Ford Dispute At Kansas City Ended.

DETROIT—(AP)—Homer Martin, whose presidency of the United Automobile Workers has been repudiated by the congress of industrial organizations, claimed today to have effected a settlement of a prolonged strike at the Ford Motor company's Kansas City plant.

Martin said that as a result of his negotiations at the Ford headquarters here, 2,500 men soon would return to work at the plant, where a strike began 16 months ago, "wearing union buttons and holding their heads up as union men."

"Meanwhile," he added, "I'm called a company stooge."

He referred to charges by his CIO-supported opponents in the UAW that he had "conspired" with Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, to convert the UAW into a company union.

PIE BLAMED IN DEATH, ILLNESS

Cherries Believed To Have Poisoned Pittsburgh Residents.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— The coroner's office reported today it suspected a cherry pie caused the death from ptomaine poisoning of one woman and the serious illness of four others.

An autopsy was being performed on the victim, Mrs. Letitia Allsopp, 37, to determine definitely if ptomaine was the cause of death.

Constable Peter Marcino of Snowden township and William Allsopp, the husbands of two women ill, escaped possible death because they listened to a radio program instead of eating with the others.

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Uncle Sam tagged three Hollywood celebrities today for additional income tax contributions.

Liens were filed against John Barrymore, his wife, Elaine, and Bruce Cabot by the bureau of internal revenue. The bureau says Barrymore owes $437 additional for his 1937 earnings, his wife, $1,097 for the same period, and Cabot $896 for 1936.

Start Probe Of Shortage At Plymouth

Village Clerk's Accounts Show Discrepancy of $2,700, Report.

An investigation of reported discrepancies totaling $2,772 in the records of A. F. Marvin, clerk of the village of Plymouth, had been launched today by the state bureau of supervision and inspection of public offices and Mayor J. T. Gaskell of Plymouth, after state examiners returned findings against Marvin.

An audit report filed by State Examiner Charles W. Corbin showed findings totaling $4,306 against officials in Plymouth, Bellville, Butler and Lexington.

It was understood, however, that investigation had been started only in Plymouth since findings in the three other villages were of a routine nature.

Says Clerk Admits Taking Money.

Corbin said Marvin, Plymouth village clerk for six years, had admitted taking for his personal use some of the funds collected from village electric consumers. Other items had not been recorded in the ledger or cash book and there were bank under-deposits, Corbin said.

Mayor Gaskell said he and other village officials were making an investigation today to determine the amount of shortages in village departments, and added that no action against Marvin would be taken until the check-up is completed. He said no other official was involved in the findings.

The examiner's report to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said Plymouth village records were badly kept and there were hundreds of dollars in unpaid water and electric bills being carried on the books. There had been no apparent effort to collect some of the bills, the report said.

Frank B. Thomas, deputy state supervisor in the bureau of inspection, told The News-Journal today that findings in Bellville would amount to $625, while in Lexington they would amount to $555 and to $353 in Butler.

Findings for recovery of $467 against A. C. Kell, Lexington village clerk, were reported by Examiner Corbin, who said Kell had sold the village merchandise amounting to that figure from his hardware store.

Kell could not legally hold public office and have an interest in the expenditures of the village outside of his salary, Corbin pointed out.

THREE FOR ONE?

Capital Hears State to Bear Most of Relief Costs.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Matching requirements in the new poor relief bill for 1939 may be switched from the dollar-for-dollar demand to a 3-1 basis if urban centers can show that enabling legislation will be inadequate, house leaders indicated today.

Republican Majority Leader J. Harry McGregor revealed that four members from the house and four from the senate would begin work shortly on temporary drafting of a relief measure that will solve the problem at least until Dec. 31.

"No one knows how much will be needed for relief," McGregor said, "and for that reason there remains a great deal of doubt."

McGregor admitted there was a possibility of matching being reduced which would require cities to put up one dollar for every three dollars allotted by the state.

TRIAL TO OPEN

FREMONT — (AP) — Opening testimony will be heard Monday in the first-degree murder trial of Red Bush, 20, of Mentone, Ind., charged with the Dec. 6 slaying of Marshal Neal D. Fowler, of nearby Clyde, after a 73-cent holdup.

Common Pleas Judge A. V. Baumann ordered a morning session today to select an alternate juror from a third venire.

TAKES ACTION TO ELIMINATE OVERCROWDING

Instructs President to Appoint Building Committee to Remedy Condition.

FONKALSRUD CITES PLAN

Officers Re-elected, Annual Report Shows 3,671 Given Treatment During Year.

Immediate action to provide more ward space at Mansfield General hospital had been authorized today by the hospital board of directors.

Confronted with a serious over-crowding condition, the directors at their annual meeting last night instructed Ross A. Glessner, president, to appoint a building committee to take whatever steps are necessary to provide more ward space.

Glessner had not named the committee today, but said he would do so within the "next few days."

Creation of the committee followed submission to the board by Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud of a plan to convert storage space on the first floor into a ward, large enough for 14 or 16 additional beds.

Cites Other Needs.

Dr. Fonkalsrud also pointed out to the board that such action would create a need for storage space elsewhere, and said that additional room was needed for surgical work. The board took no definite action on either suggestion, however.

The hospital has been taxed to capacity ever since Jan. 9 and today had 119 patients. The only section not filled to capacity is the maternity ward, which may not be used to care for any other types of patients.

All officers and members of the board were re-elected. They are Glessner, president; Joudge C. H. Huston, vice president; Mrs. Ephriam Brown, secretary, and C. W. Fox, treasurer.

Members of the board in addition to the officers are Robert Black, W. O. Fry, Mrs. E. R. Hartman, Mathew Mayer, D. O. Meese, E. M. Olin, L. A. Ott, Fred Burgener, E. B. Swigart, M. Dale Ward, Dr. Zelpha Averill, E. D. Baxter, Mrs. F. B. Black, Dr. Ada Ford, Mrs. J. C. Gorman, Avery C. Hand, E. W. Loughridge, Frank Mahoney, Mrs. Hobart Scattergood, Sidney Smith, W. J. "Robot Robbers" Silenced In All Illinois Counties

CHICAGO —(AP)— A four-day drive led by the state's newly-appointed attorney general has silenced the whir of Illinois slot machines.

Chief Walter Williams of the state highway police said today the "one-armed bandits" had been driven to cover in each of the state's 102 counties.

Atty. Gen. John E. Cassidy opened the offensive Tuesday by demanding that sheriffs immediately confiscate and destroy the machines. He said the slot machine racket "must be wiped out."

The attorney general termed the gambling devices "a social menace" and said investigators had attributed six recent slayings to the "syndicated slot machine rackets."

The 350 state policemen were assigned to aid sheriffs and city police in halting operation of the "robot robbers." The state officers were detailed to act on their own initiative only if local officers failed to eliminate the machines.

The attorney general threatened to assume the duties of local officials if there was proof of "a practical breakdown of law enforcing machinery."

MONTREAL — (Canadian Press)—(AP)—When two gunmen climbed on a truck driven by Noel Audette, 20, and told him to drive to a spot where they could steal its contents, Audette unobtrusively put on the emergency brake.

Soon smoke began pouring from the brakes —and the two men leaped from the vehicle in alarm and fled. Audette released the brake and drove on his $700 cargo.

World's In Reverse — Return To Sound Virtues, Grads Told

By VIRGIL A. STANFIELD

With democracy on the defensive as never before, the youth of today faces the challenge of building a new and greater world out of the wreckage left by the misuse of power, Dr. Robert Williams, president of the Ohio Northern university, asserted last night at mid-term commencement exercises for 92 graduates of Mansfield Senior high school in the school auditorium.

"The world is in reverse. We have been attempting to make discarded ways work again, and we need to go back to the sound virtues of yesterday if we hope to restore the world's freedom," Dr. Williams said.

He spoke before more than 1,000 persons on a program which included a brief talk by Louis Bromfield, novelist, who graduated from old John Simpson high school 25 years ago.

"After rambling over most of the world for the past 23 years, I have returned to Richland county as the best place I have found, and you graduates probably will feel the same way about it," the noted author said when introduced by Supt. W. L. Miller.

"Whatever your troubles are here, they are nothing to what exists in other parts of the world," Bromfield added.

Speaking on "The Gateway To Life," Dr. Williams told the graduates that "If a new world is to be built, you boys and girls will be in the building of it.

"We need to go back to see how greatness really was achieved. Study the lives of such men as Washington and Lincoln. Those men built on all the great things of the past that had come to them

PUSHES AUDIT OF COURT BOOKS

Examiner Continues Check as Judge Prepares to Renew Suspension of Clerk.

The possibility that the audit of the accounts of municipal court will not be completed for two more weeks appeared today as Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch prepared to extend the suspension of Clerk Allen K. Ports.

The judge said he was ready to take such action after conferring with State Examiner Elmer A. Zook whom he said would need at least another week to complete the audit.

Judge Kalbfleisch suspended Ports Jan. 10 on the ground that "certain irregularities" had been found in his accounts. He extended the original six-day period for two weeks which expires Monday.

Until Zook completes his audit and turns it over to his superiors at Columbus, no action will be taken in the case, other than to keep the clerk under suspension, it was said at the court. Findings are not permitted to be disclosed by examiners while engaged in an audit but will be made public at Columbus upon the completion of their work.

TOLEDO—(AP)—Ninety-six passengers and crew of the third section of the Commodore Vanderbilt, crack passenger train of the New York Central railroad, escaped injury early today when a car of a freight train on an adjoining track was derailed and side-swiped the passenger train near Crissey, 12 miles west of Toledo.

The Commodore Vanderbilt was traveling nearly 80 miles an hour as it passed through Crissey.

An eastbound freight, at a mile-a-minute speed, approached on an adjoining track.

As the two trains were about to pass, a brake beam broke on one of the freight cars, derailing the car and throwing it partially in the path of the Commodore Vanderbilt.

Europe Turns Eyes to Britain As Chamberlain Prepares Important Speech.

reinforced the guard on France's Spanish frontier after refugees from government Spain started to stream across. Within an hour 5,000 had jammed into France. All were routed to concentration camps in the interior.

Spanish Refugees Jam French Border.

LE PERTHUS, France—(AP)—Between 4,000 and 5,000 French troops were rushed to the Spanish border today as a tragic horde of refugees from governmental Catalonia poured into France.

The refugees, fleeing the Insurgent armies who rapidly drove northward from Barcelona, started crossing the border at 8 a. m. and within an hour 5,000 had jammed across the line, completely swamping French guards.

Raoul Didkowski, prefect of the border department, told higher officials he was unable to carry out their orders to let only women, children and old men in unless troops were ordered to use their guns, if necessary, to keep out younger men.

Of the first 5,000 who came through Le Perthus pass when the refugee flood gates were opened only a few hundred, however, were men of fighting age.

Several hundred Senegalese troops of the 24th regiment in Perpignan were the first to reach Le Perthus.

The prefect who came to take personal command of the frontier post sent these troops to keep order in the mile-long circuitous road around which the refugees were routed for classification and vaccination.

British Cabinet Shuffle Ordered.

LONDON — (U.P.) — The British cabinet was re-shuffled today to put Lord Chattfield, admiral of the fleet, in charge of the entire defense program, designed to build up Britain's navy, army and air force to invincible strength.

Lord Chatfield, a veteran strategist of the navy and one of the important factors in maintaining its efficiency during the post-war lag in building, will replace Sir Thomas Inskip in the vital cabinet post of minister for co-ordination of defense.

Inskip primarily is a lawyer, not a military man, and the defense program under his direction has been the target of fiery criticism. He will be retained in the cabinet as secretary for the dominions, a post held temporarily by Malcolm MacDonald in addition to his job as colonial secretary, which he retains.

MacDonald was relieved of the dominion post so that, as colonial secretary, he could concentrate on the troublesome Palestine problem and the impending Jewish-Arab conference in London.

A Farmer's Diary

The Country Preacher.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE PREACHER'S car had broken down, and I saw him standing beside it along the road, his face puckered into a worried frown, as he tinkered with this and that in a vain attempt to start the machinery. The collar of his shiny overcoat was turned up and his hair showed gray beneath his wide black hat. His threadbare cuffs stood out stiffly below his coat sleeves. "She won't budge an inch," he said seriously, as I stopped and got off to look for the trouble. "The engine runs, but the wheels won't turn."

"Cars are like that, sometimes," I told him. "You likely have a broken axle, or a key sheared off, or something. Get in with me. I'll wager I know where you're going, for on the way up I saw the widow Smothers scalding a fine Plymouth Rock. Am I right?"

He grinned assent. "I'm coming from Blank's just now," he said. "They live in that white house, over across the valley. I've been there two nights this week. I left at five this morning. Brother Blank has pneumonia, but the crisis is past. I was so happy when the doctor said he would get well. The Lord has been very gracious."

"Do you have many such cases?"

"This weather is hard on our old people. I had three funerals in the last three weeks. One family was destitute, and I gathered food and clothing from the community for the widow and her crippled son. Over at Grits' there was a happy wedding yesterday with a feast afterward. The family that moved into the Sanders place have a new baby, a boy. So it goes."

"A parson's work gets him into some vital spots," said I.

He stroked his chin with one thin hand, and his fine, kind mouth smiled whimsically. "It's true, brother," he declared, "but the greatest privilege a man can have is to help others. There is more satisfaction and happiness, a farther reach into one's deeper self in doing good than in anything I can think of. It's like dropping a pebble into a pool—or like the little candle that Shakespeare told about. One never can tell where the circles of influence stop, or the light ray ends."

I shook hands with him as he departed for his chicken dinner, and thanked him for his splendid company.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

NEW INTERESTS TOP NEXT WEEK'S PLANS

Organizations Schedule Regular Meetings; Card Clubs Continue Social Sessions as Cold Threatens Activities.

By FRANCES E. GENSLEY

ACTUALLY all of Mansfield's clubs are still having regular meetings, but it is the lucky hostess who can say that every member of her club was present for a session. The depth of the snow, the frigidity of the winds, and the attendant sniffles and sore throats have been keeping many home.

With another light week-end ahead of us, we can easily confine our spare moments to hoping for warmer days, planning the spring wardrobe, or reading the books on our "must" lists. Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock a group of students of Lawrence Frank's will appear in recital at the Park Avenue Baptist church. And, as a sort of reward for their hard work during these past strenuous weeks Mr. Frank will entertain this week for his students.

Looking Over the Week's Calendar.

So while you toast your feet on the hottest register in the house and decide what date you'll start for Florida we'll try to skip around in next week's calendar and see what there is to interest Mansfield club women and social leaders.

Monday.

Winifred Seneff, the much feted bride-elect of Walter DeWitt Graham, will be guest of honor at a party Monday night at Eleanor Clingan's home on Vennum avenue. Sorority sisters of both Beta and Delta chapters of Tri-Gam will be the guests at the affair.

Mrs. Carl B. Gibson will be hostess at her Park avenue home when Round Table members assemble for a dessert-luncheon and program, and Mrs. Charles Tharp will entertain over at the Women's Club when the St. Peter's guild, social organization, meets the same afternoon for luncheon. Mrs. K. E. Buhr, president of both the A. A. U. W. and the Music Study club, will open up her Glenbeck Lane home to members of the consumer purchasing study group of A. A. U. W. when they meet Monday night.

Tuesday.

Nice day, Tuesday. With lots of attractive sounding meetings set. Chi Sigma sorority members will conduct a bit of business at the hotel when they gather. During the afternoon Tourist club and Tuesday Book club members will be pursuing programs. Mrs. Frank Hartman will be hostess to Tourist members at her Parkwood boulevard home, and Tuesday Book members will be received by Mrs. Carl Schwier at the Women's Club.

Some of the social groups to meet are the Happy Eight club with Mrs. Margaret Yarga, the Social Crochet club with Mrs. Pauline Black, Chatter Card club with Mrs. W. E. Saylor, Rosalie club with Mrs. Marie Lomax, and the Varieteers Bridge club with Mrs. Robert Gehrisch.

Mrs. Leroy Tressel will entertain the Valencia club, and the Tuesday Night club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Grace Tivener.

During the afternoon the Hedges Mothers club will hold a session, and Mrs. J. C. Robinson will be hostess to the Ruth Circle class of the First Christian church. W. B. A. members will party at the K. of P. hall with Mrs. Pearl Miller taking charge, and the Earnest Workers class of the Park Avenue Baptist church will have a session with Mrs. O. P. Wervey on West Fifth street.

Wednesday.

Nomad club members will lunch Wednesday at the Women's Club when Mrs. J. E. Gibson receive, and mothers of Bowman street school children will have a session at the school the same afternoon. It will be during that evening that the Liberty Park auxiliary assembles at the park pavilion for a session.

Two other study clubs, the Fortnight club and the Junior Sororis will be in session. Fortnight members will be entertained by Miss June Shires at the Women's Club. Reminiscence club members will be entertained at the South Boulevards home of Mrs. Clarence Myers, while members of the Young Peoples society of St. John's church assemble in the church parlors.

A covered-dish dinner will be served both to members of the St. Agnes guild in the undercroft of Grace Episcopal church, and to members of the Rebekah lodge at the I. O. O. F. hall preceding initiation of candidates.

Sewing will be done for the hospital again Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. F. J. Schuster entertains the E. L. K. circle at the Women's Club. Problem of the month members of A. A. U. W. will have a meeting with Vangeline Cook, and Memorial hall will be the scene of a regular meeting of the Auxiliary No. 100.

Mrs. Harold Garn will be hostess to the Wooden Shoe Euchre club, while Mrs. Vincent Brown entertains members of the Ruth-Naomi Bible club at her home.

Meetings of social clubs include sessions of the Anytime club with Mrs. T. T. Lindsey, the Octagonio club with Mrs. Katherine Clements, Do-Be-There club with Mrs. Ray Kline and the Golden Link club with Mrs. Otto Miller.

Thursday.

Thursday still is the most frequently chosen day for sessions of church organizations. Members of the Women's association of the First Congregational church will have a quarterly luncheon at 1 o'clock on Thursday at the church. Mrs. J. H. Gongwer is hostess, and the program will be offered by the Pilgrim guild.

At the same time members of the missionary societies of both the Central M. E. and the First M. E. church will be meeting. Sessions will be at the churches.

Three of the circles of the First Presbyterian church have arranged meetings. Circle One will be entertained by Mrs. L. S. Hout; both Circle Five and Two have planned covered-dish dinners at the church.

Beta Sigma Phi girls will gather at the home of Mrs. John Bissman, Park avenue west, for their meeting, and Sigma Kappa Gamma girls will be the guests of Miss Rhea Hall. Two social groups—the Busy Bee club and the Italian Social club—will meet with Mrs. Chester Secrist and Mrs. Jerome Gentile respectively.

Mrs. Ray Zerby will welcome members of the W. B. A. Pioneer club to her home on East Second street, and Mrs. E. H. Thomas will be hostess for a Valentine exchange for members of the Learn-A-Stitch club. Members of the Jolly Times club will be the guests of Miss Elizabeth Horning the same day.

Two evening groups—the Fireside and the Shamrock club—have scheduled meetings. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Campbell will be hosts to the former group, while Shamrock club members gather at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Darling.

Friday.

Guests of members of the Lucretia Hedges Home Missionary society will be welcomed at the First Methodist Episcopal church when members entertained with a covered-dish dinner the same evening. North Lake park pavilion will be the scene of the business meeting of the Daughters of the Scotland, and Mrs. F B. Poling will entertain the Ladies Bible class of the Mayflower Congregational church.

While members of the Woodville Social club are having a covered-dish dinner at the school house, members of the Daughters of America will be having a meeting at Eagle hall. Luncheon will be served to members of the Priscillian club when Mrs. L. H. Beam entertains at the Women's Club.

Saturday.

Probably we shouldn't even mention it, but how can you expect a society editor to keep still about a wedding? You know that at 4:30 p. m. Miss Seneff and Walter Graham will take the solemn nuptial vows at the First Congregational church. From what Winifred's friends tell us of the wedding plans, this will be a charming and inspiring affair.

And that same night—if you can bear up under so much glamour and excitement—members of the A. A. U. W., their escorts, and their friends will dance to the suave rhythms of Bob Richards' orchestra in the ballroom of the Leland. Music for the semi-formal benefit affair is to blare forth from trumpets, bass drums and things between the hours of 10 p. m. and 1 a. m.

That meeting of the Jared Mansfield D. A. R. which was set for Friday evening at Mrs. James Bailey's home will be Saturday instead. The reason. Well, Mrs. Dan C. Pennell, state chairman of approved schools, wasn't able to attend on Friday evening, and being the guest speaker the session was pushed up to 2:30 p. m. Delegates to the National Congress are to be elected also at this meeting.

Mrs. Bailey will be assisted by Mrs. Charles A. Seaman, Mrs Alexander Fraser, Miss Elizabeth Ackerman, Mrs. T. F Frank, Mrs. Harry C. Brubaker, Miss Helen Rhodes and Mrs. Emma Brown.

Two other clubs of a social type will meet Saturday evening also. They are the Puenta club which will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Smith at their Rowland avenue home, and the La Petite club which will assemble with Mr and Mrs. Clyde Benninghoff on South Main street.

So until another Saturday rolls around, "So long."

What Type Do Men Prefer?

DEAR MISS FARIFAX:

What kind of girls are most popular with boys? Do boys like chatterboxes or the more serious type?

I belong to the serious type, and as I read and study a lot, I talk about books, plays and literature. I dislike petting, and think it is common.

However, in my same block are two girls of 17 and 18, who chum around, and seem to be on the go all the time, but I never see them with boys. But—boys don't flock around me either. What's the matter with all of us?

BOOKWORM

Surely you've noticed that fishermen use different bait for different kinds of fish. I believe the same rule holds good with boy friends. Some like serious girls, and some like the chatterbox type.

All things considered, it is a better plan to talk on lighter subjects than books, drama and literature, unless you happen to know that the man in whose company you find yourself is especially interested in these subjects. It might create the impression that you're a highbrow, and men are supposed to be afraid of that sisterhood. Baseball, movies and sports in general are safer topics. But while you're waiting for the right one to come along, be careful not to create the impression of being a blue stocking.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Jan. 29.

Sunday's horoscope is one of major importance, judging by the powerful lunar and mutual operations. This might imply a drastic, revolutionary upheaval of life, with all its angles, urges and objectives undergoing a complete and surprising about-face. The emotional or romantic elements seem primarily involved, but the auguries are for high culminations in gratification or joy in the midst of bewildering circumstances.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a year of radical and surprising change. Amidst confusion and bewilderment, this native may be completely "carried away" from his old traditions, environs and experiences, with the dramatic adventure spelling much gratification.

A child born on this day will have extraordinary talents, with creative insight and ability in novel or singular directions, which may take it to dramatic heights in adventure or public acclaim.

For Monday, Jan. 30.

Monday's astrological forecast holds testimonies of adverse as well as benefic conditions, with much stirring to keep the day one of excitement and adventure. There may be difficulties arising from extravagance, self-indulgence, impetuosity and probable violence. This may lead to troublesome debts, quarrels, loss and litigation, with reactions on social and business standing.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to run into a year of much perturbation, tumult, strife, self-indulgence and excessive expenditures, all of which may cause loss of social and business prestige, coupled with litigation. An exciting and drastic year with squandered forces unless control and restraint be exercised is forecast.

A child born on this day will be virile, talented, but impetuous, turbulent, indulgent, extravagant and pleasure-loving, unless given early discipline and direction.

Today's Fashion

Handsome suit.

By VERA WINSTON

SUITS to wear in mild regions, and under fur coats where 'tis cold, are smart and colorful as well as practical. Here is a handsome new model. The jacket is of herringbone tweed in a mixture of purple, dark red and blue. The large soft collar has a turned-back fold at the edge. The jacket buttons with one button rather high and is allowed to swing open, though the line is fitted, to show the vest beneath. Vest and skirt are of purplish wool, the skirt being composed of inverted box pleats. It's a grand jacket to wear with other frocks and skirts, and for chilly days at the races, if you're witnessing any these days. Lighter weight, paler tweed jackets for cruise wear are cut similarly and worn with exciting accessory colors. Carmine, for instance, is a favored southern shade in shoes, hats and bags, looking as smart with Irish tweeds as it does with sharkskin.

Lily Pons Plans Dinners

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

RECENTLY we attended a supper party so delightful, so original, so clever, that we just have to tell you about it. Lily Pons, famous coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, turns to the operas that she sings for inspiration when planning the after-opera supper parties that she frequently gives following her own performances at the opera. These suppers arep lanned with such originality and charm that they are the most talked about parties in the musical world.

Miss Pons plans the details, the menus, table decorations, place cards and so on. If the supper follows a performance of Rigoletto, then the menu is Italian. When she sings in Le Coq d'Or then the food is Russian and tea is served from a samovar.

The supper we attended was served after a performance of Lakme and the dinner and decorations were international, for, as Miss Pons explained, although the opera deals with an Indian subject, it was written by a Frenchman and she was singing it in America. The menu included chicken Malay curry, lettuce salad with cream and the American staple of tapioca pudding.

And you should have seen the famous folk going for the tapioca pudding! Table decorations also carried out the idea of the opera. In the center were three tiny figurines representing the chief characters in the drama. The butler wore Indian costume and a turban, and place cards identified the guests places with appropriate quotations from the opera.

The curry is given for 6 portions. Ingredients include one chicken, 4 teaspoons ground onion, one teaspoon each ground tumeric and fresh red and green chilies cut lengthwise, ½ teaspoon ground ginger, one clove ground garlic, 4 cloves, 4 ground cinnamon sticks, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 ounces butter, 2 cups cocoanut milk and 3 cucumbers.

The chicken should be divided into 8 or 10 joints, and the cucumber peeled and cut in 2-inch chunks. All the condiments should be well browned in the butter and the pieces of chicken added and cooked to a light golden brown. Add cucumber and the cocoanut milk and simmer for 35 minutes. Miss Pons gave this as an authentic recipe.

Lettuce With Cream.

Lettuce Salad with Cream—This French dish calls for head of lettuce, 2 eggs, 5 tablespoons cream, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, salt, pepper and sugar. Wash the lettuce and place it in a salad bowl, pouring over it the dressing which is prepared as follows: Pound the yolks of two eggs in a mortar and when reduced to a paste put them in a bowl. Add the cream gradually, working with a wooden spoon, season to taste with salt, pepper and sugar and add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice very gradually, stirring constantly.

Everyone has a pet tapioca pudding dish and here is the one Miss Pons likes. She prefers it, she says, to all the rich desserts in the cook book. Two tablespoons quick cooking tapioca, one pint of milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs, pinch of salt, ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg will make six portions. Put milk into saucepan, bring to boil, and sprinkle tapioca stirring occasionally and simmering until clear. Add the sugar and salt. Remove from the fire, and when cool, put in the eggs, well beaten. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Yes it is time you are getting over to that hotel where you're to meet the man who's going to drive you back to the farm," I told him. "Just tell the driver to signal the first taxi he sees for you."

"I'll do that," Noel answered, "but first, let me check on those instructions. I'm to get out of the taxi in front of that old hotel as unobtrusively as possible, so that the bell boys won't lamp me, and as soon as my taxi man departs, I'm to whip around the corner to where a man with a tiny red ribbon in his buttonhole is sitting at the wheel of the car. Then I'm to exchange passwords with him"—he repeated the ones Dicky had suggested— "and, having satisfied myself he's the right man, I'm to get into the car and start with him for the farm."

"You have everything correct," I told him, smiling, "so, will you speak to the driver?"

He promptly shifted his position so that the driver could hear his instructions.

"Okay!" the man replied, and inside of another two minutes, another taxi had drawn up beside ours, and Noel had transferred to it, after a hasty farewell to me, and a more lingering one to Mary.

"Just a second!" I said, as Noel's taxi drew away, and our driver shifted gears, prepartory to starting his car. He looked at me attentively, and I went on. "Is there any reason why you cannot take us on a much longer trip than the one we are on now?"

"Not a thing in the world," he responded promptly. "If you want to go through to San Francisco, it's all one to me. I always keep everything I need for a long trip right here beside me, and I don't even have to waste time telephoning my wife, for I haven't any."

A Smile In Return.

His grin was so naively engaging—he was little more than a boy—that I couldn't help giving him a smile in return."

"We won't take you as far away as the Pacific Coast," I told him, "but we do want to go through the Hudson tunnel, and down the Atlantic coast to ——" —I named the South Jersey village nearest the terminal. "Tell us just before we reach there and we'll decide then, just where we want to stop."

"Okay," he answered with another grin, and was on his way again. Mary, who had been intently watching the street, sank back into her seat with a little sigh of relief.

"Not a sign of anybody who could possibly be a sleuth," she said in tones inaudible to our driver. "I think you've turned the trick, Aunt Madge. Now, let's sit back and relax."

Relaxation.

" 'Relax' is the watchword," I agreed, and for the remainder of the drive through the tunnel and along the Jersey boulevards, Mary and I rested, talking very little, even drowsing a bit, until our driver announced our destination.

"Here we are, ladies!" he said as we entered the outskirts of a typical Jersey town. "Where do you want me to drop you?"

"We'll tell you presently," I said. "Just draw up to the curb for a minute, please."

"Okay!" came the inevitable response, and when he parked the car, I compared my wrist watch and the time card I had brought with me, and made a mental calculation.

Now—Lunch.

"We'll have plenty of time for lunch," I told Mary, and then turned to the driver.

"Do you know this town at all?" I asked, and he gave me another engaging grin.

"No, I never heard of it before," he said, "but I found it, didn't I, without bothering you with questions? And I can find anything in it you want. Just tell me what it is."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

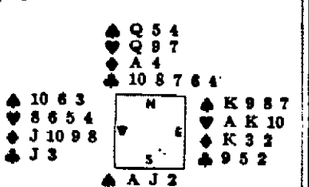
By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

PUSSY-FOOTING FUTILE

VIGOROUS MEASURES are necessary when the fate of a deal depends upon some one factor. Making a mild gesture in the general direction of what you are trying to accomplish may be as unproductive as no effort at all.

If you decide in your own mind that a certain line of activity is absolutely essential, that you must attain a certain objective before the enemy can attain a particular one of his own, do the job up right, by calling your best forces into play.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

East inaugurated the bidding of this deal with 1-Spade. South made the very strong vulnerable bid of 1-No Trump, though he probably should have doubled. West passed and North bid 2-Clubs. South 2-Diamonds, and North 3-No trump. Both opponents having bid No trump and so having indicated some spade strength, West decided to lead the unbid heart suit, the 4, which East won with the K.

Having so much strength himself and South having bid so strongly, East felt that his partner's hand was probably devoid of entries and that the heart suit therefore would be hopeless. It seemed to him that the crux of the hand depended on removing the diamond entry from the dummy before the club were set up. So he returned the diamond 3. Declarer then made his contract easily, taking in the diamond Q, three high clubs, the diamond A, two more clubs and two spades.

If instead of the 3 East had returned the diamond K, the two long clubs in dummy would have been killed and the contract would have been set no matter what South did.

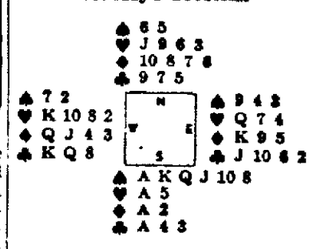
Monday's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

What is the correct bidding of this hand?

Complexion Responds To Care

By MME QUI VIVE

It won't do to depend entirely upon the drug store brand of loveliness. The glowing lipstick, the pretty blushes taken from the compact, and the gardenia finish supplied by powder that is as soft as the fluff of a butterfly's wing are all very well in their way. They serve. They boost morale. But they do not completely fulfill their mission of flattering unless the skin is in normal condition, fine of fabric, of good coloring.

Every cutaneous cell that composes the covering of the body must be functioning properly. Glands must be neither sluggish nor over-active. The condition of epidermal surface and glandular machinery is affected by the general health. The state of the liver, lungs, stomach, kidneys or the intestinal tract is a factor not to be considered lightly.

You know what loss of sleep will do to appearance.

Giving way to emotional storms will make a woman look ten years older. Anger disturbs the inner organs, interfering with digestion, increasing the heart action. It shows upon the human countenance.

Some seeds, such as the Trollins, have to be frozen before they will start to grow. To freeze them, fill ice tray in your refrigerator half full of water, freeze it, put on the seeds, then cover with water and freeze the entire cube.

To really enjoy all the goodness of a salad it must be served with its appropriate dressing. No one dressing can be used on all kinds of salads.

When measuring a cupful, a tablespoonful or a teaspoonful of any dry ingredient, fill utensil full, but do not pack. Level off with a knife.

CHAPTER XI

Kurt and Alix sat at the same table by the window in Angela Dominico's shabby little restaurant. But there was no snowy scene from the window tonight. The window was open, letting in the sweet scent of early spring. One of Angela's small sons sat at a nearby table, his young brows furrowed over problems in arithmetic. The old phonograph played the familiar Italian love song.

"It's great to see you," Kurt said. "I like Tuck immensely. She's so substantial and she has a marvelous sense of humor."

Alix nodded her bright head. "She's a grand person. Always reminds me to wear my rubbers when it's raining and to drink milk before I go to bed. Something happened to a love affair when she was young. I don't know what it was but she hasn't cared since."

He picked up a glass of red wine. "Just to call and apologize for not showing up that morning in New York wasn't enough. I overslept."

Her life had been made of such solid reality and common clay, she thought suddenly. But with Kurt you left the old and tarnished things. You shed them as if they were old garments. She even forgot Tod's despair in Kurt's tender, amused smile. Strange that all of the men in the world only one man, this man, could make her feel so much.

A quick little frown drew her curving brows together.

Kurt saw it and said, "Alix, you talk to me in your own clear young voice and smile at me. But something is bothering you. I felt it when I saw you. What is it?"

Briefly she told him about Tod.

"But why didn't you tell me this, Alix? Send him to me Wednesday morning and I'll see what I can do to straighten him out."

"I've done everything I could."

"A brother likes to be the protector of his sister. When the sister is the protector and provider, his pride is hurt."

He could not see Tod before Wednesday because he was going to New York tomorrow. He had been there several times since the day Gina called him back to her. And lonely tonight, eager for tomorrow, he had called Alix to apologize in person and to see her . . . for the last time.

She asked, "Kurt, do you know if Don expects to be married again?"

His smile was puzzled. "I was going to ask you that. You can hear the carpenters' hammers when you pass Ivy House. It's being remodeled. Alix, are you going to marry him?"

"I? What makes you think..."

"But every one seems to think it."

Now her eyes were puzzled. "I don't know anything about it. He hasn't asked me." She laughed quietly. "People are always so quick to imagine that a girl wants to marry her boss."

He smiled. "I don't know that I can blame him for wanting to marry you. He's calmed down considerably since he's known you. No escapades that get into the papers. Few parties recently. You're the only girl he sees these days."

She sat up straight and looked at him steadily. "I didn't know that. But I do know I'm not going to marry him. It's just silly gossip."

All this talk about her when she wanted to ask, "Did you go back to Gina after you left me? Tell me. Tell me. Are you going back to New York to see her? Is that why you're going back? Are you going to marry her? If you do, it won't matter very much what I do or what happens to me."

His eyes met hers. "You know about Gina and me, Alix. Bernice or Nancy told you. I saw her again. I've seen her several times. A lot of people are going to call me a fool but somehow I don't think you will because I went back to a girl I haven't been 'out of love with' since the first time I saw her."

He had said it. He was honest at least. For an instant she could feel nothing. Then she was cold and numb, her heart sick. He didn't know what it was doing to her. She sat opposite him, a pleasant young friend, a girl with whom he had danced and laughed one night in New York, a girl whom he had said sweet, tender things he had probably forgotten by now.

"People make mistakes," he said. "And Gina is sorry. I know she is. I wanted you to get my version of it, Alix, the true one."

You said there was star dust in my eyes, she thought. Now you don't see and you don't care that it is no longer there, that it will never be there again . . . after tonight.

She said, "I'm glad for you Kurt." This was being brave. But it was a blow between your eyes and a needle in your heart. Funny to have your heart broken by a man who had only been close to loving you.

He looked at her and saw tears in her eyes. "You're crying, Alix."

"For you. For what might have been perfection. Her smile was twisted. Somehow love like yours for Gina makes me want to cry, Kurt."

"That's sweet. And you're sweet, Alix, and deserving of the best."

Beneath the hall light outside the door of her apartment he took her small cold hands, held them briefly, and left her.

She did not turn on the light in the living-room because Tod was asleep on the sofa. Now her only feeling was one of aching loss. As if you could lose what had never really been yours. Our good night was our good-bye, Kurt. We knew it.

Tuck sat up in bed and turned on the light.

Alix said, "He did see her again, Tuck. Several times. It's started all over again. He's going to her again tomorrow."

"That actress has him bewitched," Tuck said impatiently. "Some men are like that, always chasing rainbows, loving women they can't trust out of their sight. Some women are like that too. And the awakening is an awful shock."

"Kurt will never wake up from being in love with Gina."

Eddie, leaning against the wall of the office building, smoking a cigarette, saw Alix in the dark little tailored suit and white blouse and small black hat step from the elevator. She saw him and smiled.

"On my five a week raise we're going to lunch in style," he said. "Working overtime. That's why I haven't seen you."

Alix looked at him—fair- blue-eyed, with strong white teeth. Eddie was her kind, she thought. But what memories lay in her heart since he had taken her to Don's apartment that snowy night in March! But one dark cloud promised to lift a little—Kurt was coming back today and tomorrow he was going to see Tod.

Sitting across from Eddie in a hotel dining-room, she said "Tuck always thinks we've quarreled when you stay away. I try to tell her we never quarrel. Tell me about yourself, Eddie."

"It's true that I have been working," he said soberly, "But not night and day. If you really want to know why I've been staying away . . . I didn't want to horn in. You know, no trespassing. All that."

"What are you talking about? You don't mean Kurt?"

"No. I mean Don Lawrence."

She frowned. What was this linking of her name with Don's? Why had Kurt asked in all seriousness, "Alix, are you going to marry him?" Was that the reason girls in the office treated her with reluctant respect? Even Jimmy, the office boy who had treated her with such disdain, jumped when she called him.

"Why, Eddie, what nonsense! Everybody seems to know more about my affairs than I do. I work for Don. That's all. He takes me to lunch sometimes. He's old enough to be my father. I don't even approve of him." But the gossip troubled her. Had Bernice heard? Nancy had not called her in days. "I'm sure I don't know how this ridiculous story got around. I'm not thinking of marrying anybody. Least of all Don. I don't understand . . ."

Eddie shrugged. "Oh, you know how people talk. Especially about Don. He's news. A girl lunches with him twice and they say she's going to marry him. That's been going on since Bernice divorced him. The house they lived in when they were married is being remodeled. You heard about that, I guess." He grinned. "Forget it."

"I wish I could," Alix said uneasily.

His blue eyes looked straight into hers. "I've been hoping that I . . . well, that I had a slim chance with you." And chuckled. "I thought when I got up to fifty a week I'd ask you. But I'm a long way from that. Maybe we'd better forget that, too. But I wouldn't make such a bad husband. I like kids and everybody knows I'm good to my mother." She wouldn't marry Kurt. She wouldn'd marry Don. He'd wait . . . "There's a fraternity dance on Saturday night. Want to go with me? I'd like you to wear that green dress. You look swell in that dress."

She smiled. "Thanks. And I'll wear the green dress. And on the way uptown, Eddie, will you stop everybody you pass on the street and tell them for me that Don Lawrence's stenographer isn't going to marry him. If Bernice and Nancy have heard this gossip, what will they think of me? They'll think I've been playing a game with them. And I value their friendship so much."

He left her on the steps of the office building and said, "Saturday night. And remember to wear the green dress."

As he walked away, whistling, her eyes followed his tall young figure down the crowded street and she thought, "If people insist on marrying me to somebody, I'd rather marry Eddie on thirty dollars a week than marry Don with his colorful background and his money and the house Bernice loves."

Barnett's Height May Decide Mansfield-Sandusky Tilt

Center Stands Six-Six

Tygers, Streaks Both Seek Revenge For Past Defeats In Tonight's Tilt.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

BOASTING of six victories in eight games, Sandusky high school's Blue Streaks invade the Tyger lair tonight in search of their seventh triumph of the campaign as well as revenge for the whipping absorbed in the district finals last year.

But they will not find the Tygers easy preys as they, too, have a little matter to square with the Sanduskians.

What Was It? 49-0?

Mansfield hasn't forgotten that bad whipping suffered on the gridiron last fall, and a victory tonight will help to eliminate some of the embarrassment of that rout.

Mansfield and Sandusky are parties of what is one of the most intense high school rivalries in existence in this state. This should be evident in tonight's tussle.

While the Tygers will have the advantage of playing on their own court, Coach Russ Murphy's courtiers are not heavily favored. The fact that the Streaks played last night is not expected to benefit the invaders.

Mansfield has compiled a poorer record than Sandusky, but the Tygers have played a tougher schedule. This, perhaps, balances the records.

The only defeats suffered by Sandusky this season came at the hands of Lorain and Tiffin Columbian, both setbacks coming by the margin of one point. The Junior Orders stole the ball while the Streaks were attempting to "freeze" it in the final minute to win.

Sandusky will be represented by the same personnel the Tygers found difficult to handle last season, but the team is stronger because of added experience.

For instance, Irv Barnett, who was of little use to the Streaks last season because of inexperience, has been a scoring power. His height-six-foot-six-will give Sandusky an advantage around the basket that may be difficult to match with speed. He may prove to be the deciding factor tonight.

The lettermen include Geno Balconi and Ben Fleming, a couple of football players Mansfield will never forget. Bryant, Thomas, Oglesby and Spiegel are the other lettermen, in addition to Barnett.

Sandusky's tentative lineup consists of Bryant and Harbrecht, forwards, Barnett, center, and Fleming and Thomas, guards. Harbrecht, a junior, is slated to start in place of Balconi who has been ill.

Tygers Ready, Too

Dissatisfied with the showing in the defeat by Bellevue, Coach Murphy has worked the Tygers hard this week, and believes they are ready for the Streaks.

Murphy's lineup will include Tommy Scott and Jack Dugger, forwards, Dave Shelley, center, and Jake Lyons and Bill Herpich, guards, with Don Rose slated to see a lot of action in a reserve role.

The reserve teams of the two schools will open the program in a preliminary game at 7 p. m.

SANDUSKY — Turning on the heat after trailing 16 to 15 at the half, Sandusky's Blue Streaks walloped Fremont Ross, 40 to 27 here last night. The victory kept Sandusky in a tie with Tiffin Columbian for the Buckeye league lead.

Big Irv Barnett paced Sandusky to the victory with 16 points.

BUCKS WILL TIE GOPHERS IF THEY BEAT CHICAGO

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Varsity basketball players of Ohio State and Chicago swap their textbooks for a basketball tonight to see what they can do about clarifying or complicating the Big Ten conference race.

Tonight's game here, only conference game scheduled, affords Ohio State now tied for second place with Indiana an opportunity to climb into a first-place deadlock with Minnesota. A defeat for the Buckeyes would drop them to fourth place and elevate the last place Maroons to a tie for fifth.

DANNING NOT SATISFIED

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Harry (the Horse) Danning, the New York Giant's first string catcher, said today he had sent Manager Bill Terry his unsigned contract because he felt the salary, which he did not disclose was too low.

Hilborn's 716 Total Sets Pace

Rolls Nine Straight Strikes In Middle 277 Game.

ART HILBORN took the bows at the Meder alleys last night when he pounded the wood for a spiffy 716 series in the Moose Home league.

Hilborn's string included a spectacular 277 middle game after opening with a 228. He climaxed the big series with a 211.

Opening with a spare, Hilborn slapped out nine straight strikes as he pointed for a 290 game. A bad split halted his drive in the last frame.

Hilborn and Johnny Leppo, sporting an even 600, led the No. 4 team to a high 2594 total as it took a pair of games from No. 1, paced by Farrell Hipp's 637. No. 2 had a 2593.

No. 2 strengthened its grip on first place by sweeping a series with No. 6, and the cellar No. 5 entry, led by Bill Donnellan's 632, added three games at the expense of No. 3.

Mike Jacobs Denies Galento Bout Set

NEW YORK—(INS)—An "authentic report that Joe Louis had been signed by Promoter Mike Jacobs to defend his heavyweight championship against two-ton Tony Galento at New York June 29 was brantled as "ridiculous" by all principals concerned today.

"Inasmuch as I'm supposed to be the promoter of the fight, I wish someone would tell me about it if the bout is made," said Jacobs. "No such fight has been signed and none will be until Galento beats a first-class opponent to prove he is entitled to fight Louis."

CHICAGO—(AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis is willing to meet Tony Galento any time his handlers say the word but that doesn't change his opinion of the verbose beer-drinking fighter of Orange, N. J.

"Galento is only a third-rate fighter who happens to possess a good punch," said Louis. "He's a great fighter if he can hit you, but he won't hit me if we meet."

Max Seeks Another Crack at Champion

PARIS—(U.P.)—Max Schmeling, still convinced his one round knockout by Joe Louis last June was a fluke, sailed for the United States today determined to avenge that defeat.

"I am Joe Louis' master. I proved it once, and I'll prove it again," the ex-heavyweight title holder said in an interview with the United Press on the eve of his departure for New York aboard the Normandie.

"I will never quit with that defeat in my record. I don't care about the money, but I can lick Joe Louis. I did it once and I will do it again. I want to show my American friends that Max Schmeling is as good as ever."

Looking fit, and with only a few gray hairs sprouting from the thick black locks at his temples, Max laughed at reports he was leaving Germany because of trouble with the government.

CHUCK CHUCKOVITZ

Ex-Mansfielder's Quintet Holds Chuck to 11 Points, Beat Toledo, 46-39.

OHIO'S best college basketball team traveled a rough road in the east Friday night.

Toledo University, which had won 11 games and lost one previously this season, lost to Long Island University 46 to 39 in Madison Square Garden. Akron University, which had won eight consecutive games, was trimmed by Waynesburg 49 to 23 at Waynesburg, Pa.

Toledo was Long Island's 12th victim. Irving Torgoff led the Long Islanders with 18 points to outshine Toledo's brilliant Chuck Chuckovitz, who made 11 points on five field goals and a free throw.

Toledo gave the 17,000 fans a thrill by outplaying Long Island's tangy team coached by Clair Bee, formerly of Mansfield, in the first half and until within three minutes of the end of the game.

Lexington Edges Ontario; Butler Halts Bellville

Greulich and Crawford Lead Lucas to 52 to 34 Victory Over Union In County League Contest.

A LAST-PERIOD rally enabled the Minutemen of Lexington to chalk up their second straight victory of the season over Ontario high on the Ontario planks last night.

Coach Johnny Reese's quintet went into the final frame trailing, 25 to 19, but suddenly let loose a bombardment of shots that gave it a thrilling 28 to 27 triumph over the Ontarians in a nip-and-tuck Richland county league tussle.

The win gave the Minutemen possession of fourth place in the league race, four games behind the leading Madison Rams.

Ontario took command of the contest in the opening minutes and had forged ahead, 10 to 9, in the initial period, but Lexington spurted to gain a 17 to 16 advantage at halftime. Ontario came back to outscore the Minutemen, 9 to 2, in the third, and gained an advantage that made its victory prospects bright for several minutes.

Matt Hager contributed 19 points to the Ontario cause to grab individual honors for the evening. France and Ryan led the victorious Minutemen with seven points apiece.

Ontario defeated the Lexington seconds, 17 to 15, in the preliminary contest.

Butler Hangs Up Sixth League Win.

COACH BURGETT'S Butler high Bulldogs are continuing to regain the early season form that led them through seven straight contests without a defeat.

The Bulldogs sliced a half game off the lead held by the pace-setting Madison Rams by walloping the Bellville Bluejays, 37 to 23, on the Butler court last night.

It was Butler's sixth league triumph and its 10th win of the season against three losses, two of which were suffered in league competition.

While Bellville was busy concentrating on a defense to halt Wendall Ward, league leading individual scorer, Bob Boales and little Kenny Miller supplied the scoring punch to enable Butler to grab an early advantage that was never threatened.

Butler, in its past three games, has been unable to hit its stride in the early minutes of the contest, but last night it returned to form in splendid fashion.

The Bulldogs jumped into a 10 to 2 lead in the opening frame, led 17 to 8 at halftime, and finished the third period leading 32 to 13.

Boales, who dropped in 11 points, shared individual honors with Howard Hamilton of Bellville. Miller contributed 10 points and Ward eight points to the Butler cause.

Butler copped the preliminary affair, defeating the Bellville reserves, 34 to 11.

Forwards Put on Two-Man Show.

TOM GREULICH and Bob Crawford, Lucas high's towering forwards put on a two-man shooting demonstration at Union high last night.

Greulich tipped in 21 points and Crawford split the nets for 17 as the Lucas club drubbed Union, 52 to 34, in a Richland county league contest. The decision enabled Lucas to remain in third place in the league race.

Although the two youngsters contributed 38 points, four more than Union scored, Lucas found itself in hot water for three periods.

Union spurted to gain the lead in the opening frame, and was still leading at the intermission, but the two forwards found the range in the third to give their team a lead that was never relinquished.

The Union combine led, 15 to 9, in the first period, 24 to 20, at the half and then Lucas moved ahead, 33 to 32, going into the final quarter.

Creviing topped the Union players with 12 points, with Tolles adding 10 to the losers' cause.

Shiloh Again Ties Plymouth For Loop Lead

Drummer Boys Turn Back North Fairfield, 36-18.

NORTH FAIRFIELD — Shiloh high jumped back into a tie with Plymouth for first place in the torrid Twin Valley league race here last night by defeating North Fairfield, 36 to 18.

Plymouth held a half game lead by virtue of its victory over Greenwich earlier this week, but was unable to protect it last night due to a non-league tussle at Bucyrus.

The Shiloh triumph was scored over the team that last week defeated the highly-favored Plymouth quintet.

With Bob Moser sparking the Shiloh aggregation's attack, the winners hopped into the lead in the early minutes of the contest and the outcome was never in doubt.

The Drummer Boys led, 10-8, in the first frame, and then whitewashed North Fairfield, 6-0, to increase their advantage to a 16 to 8 count at the intermission, and went into the final stanza leading, 28 to 13.

Moser hit the hoops for 20 points, more than half his team's total, to set the individual tempo. He collected his total on eight goals and four free throws. Tilt topped North Fairfield with six points.

The Shiloh Reserves defeated the North Fairfield Seconds, 13 to 9, in the opening game.

Plymouth Gives Bucyrus Scare.

BUCYRUS — Plymouth high, a Class B team, tied for the Twin Valley league lead, stepped out of its class here against the Bucyrus Redmen of the North Central Ohio conference last night and turned in a creditable performance.

The Plymouth basketeers, led by Leroy Ellison, succumbed to the Redmen's last period rally to drop a 39 to 33 decision in a nip-and-tuck affray.

Coach Don Dunham's Tigers more than held their own for three quarters against the Bucyrus combine, and for awhile it looked as if they would score an upset.

Plymouth jumped into a 9 to 5 advantage in the initial period, and emerged at the half holding a 17 to 16 lead. The Tigers went on a scoring spree in the third to increase their advantage to a 29 to 22 count. But Bucyrus rallied to outscore the Tigers, 17-4, and annex the game.

Ellison's one-man scoring demonstration was good for 17 points which was high for the evening. Oborn led the winners with 13 points.

Bucyrus defeated the Plymouth Seconds, 31 to 14, in the prelim.

Madison Seeks Revenge For First Beating

Meets Loudonville Club; Ontario at Iberia.

Madison high school courtmen will be out to square matters for the worst defeat it has suffered on the basketball floor in years tonight when they act as hosts to the Loudonville Red Birds.

The Rams, who have registered eight straight victories in the Richland county league, have suffered two defeats, the Loudonville setback coming by a 37 to 20 score. The other defeat was administered by Logan, 20 to 19.

Tonight Coach Fendrick has built victory hopes on the ball handling skill of the Rams. Slight in stature, the Mansfield hoopsters have also used speed to their advantage.

If these assets can make up the height difference, Fendrick feels the Rams will have a chance to avenge the whipping.

A preliminary game is billed at 7 p. m.

Lima Holds Up Loop Expansion

Expansion of the Ohio State league encountered a temporary set-back this week when the Lima school board announced abandonment of a plan to play league games in the high school football stadium here.

M. V. Disalle of Toledo, holder of the Lima option, said he would confer with city officials in an attempt to obtain a ball park. Lima and Mansfield are the two cities expected to join the Ohio State loop this season. Other teams are Fremont, Findlay, Tiffin and Fostoria.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

THERE is no foundation to the rumor that automatic shotguns will be outlawed. The three-shot models are proving very popular with sportsmen everywhere. After all, it is the man owning the shotgun that is the violator, and not the gun itself.

There are some fellows who seem to think that the possession of a gun and a hunting license makes them "sportsmen." Nothing a man can buy will make him a sportsman, in the real meaning of the word. His equipment can make him a hunter, but that's as far as it can go.

If the beginner in bait casting masters the correct overhead cast, he'll find little use for "side swipe" methods used by less experienced anglers. And the "side swipe" cast is dangerous when fishing with others in a boat, and is much less accurate.

The revival of interest in the muzzle loading rifle is growing rapidly and the number of muzzle loaders are constantly increasing. Many of these are reclaimed grandfather's rifles, of ancient vintage, salvaged from attics, over mantels, etc.

For toughness, light weight and genuine comfort, Goodrich "Litentuf" boots are tops for the outdoor man. They fit snugly at the ankle, and can be worn all day, without the discomfort of the ordinary boot. You'll find them at Yuncker's, in just your size.

WPA Inventory of Real Property To Start Feb. 2

A real property inventory that will furnish 40 "white collar" WPA workers with employment for a period of four months will be started in Mansfield Feb. 2, Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce said today.

Actual work on the project will get under way next Thursday when the workers will be given three weeks training on technique in conducting the survey

Two Mansfield men have been selected to supervise the work of compiling the records, which will be conducted in the chamber assembly rooms They are Harold Mansfield, 47 Sturges avenue, and Merle Mercer 235 Marion avenue.

Both the city and the county will contribute $250 each to help finance the project and the balance, about $28,000, will come from the federal goverment The Chamber of Commerce, another co-sponsor, will supply the office space equipment and part of the supplies

The survey will be designed to show the low, medium and high-cost rent areas in the city, and their respective sizes; housing conditions and the number of residences available, their type, sanitary facilities and general living conditions

GET ROAD FUNDS

County and Subdivisions Receive $5,507 From Auto, Gas Taxes.

Richland county and its subdivisions today had received $5 507 from the state in 1938 automobile license and gasoline tax funds for road and street construction and maintenance.

Most of the allocation, or $4,695, went to the county and townships for road purposes, while $812 was distributed to Mansfield, Shelby and four county villages

Mansfield received $375; Shelby, $250; Bellville, $100; Lucas, $50; Shiloh, $25, and Lexington, 12.50.

Grated orange rind and two teaspoonfuls of orange juice added to fudge while cooking gives it a delicious flavor.

THEATERS

"Paris Honeymoon."

With his latest picture, "Sing You Sinners," listed as one of the best of the year, Bing Crosby's latest film, "Paris Honeymoon," is arousing more than ordinary interest. The presence of cute little Franciska Gaal, who made a hit here several days ago in "The Girl Downstairs," may have something to do with interest in the picture When Bing, as an American millionaire, goes to Paris to marry a countess, and puts up in an old castle in the country, he finds a lovely little peasant girl who plays havoc with his marriage plans. Shirley Ross is the countess, and Akim Tamiroff, Edward Horton and Ben Blue are in the cast The picture opens at midnight today at the Madison.

"Kentucky."

The traditions of the Blue Grass country, with its fine horses and beautiful women, provides the theme for the technicolor film, "Kentucky," with the one and only Kentucky Derby providing the climax, attended, of course, with romantic complications as manufactured in Hollywood. Loretta Young and Richard Greene are a twosome handsome enough even for the Blue Grass tradition. A family feud, dating from the days of the Civil war when a Union officer kills a Kentucky gentleman, suh, is carried over to a present day romance. Walter Brennan is credited with stealing the picture. Supporting roles are in the hands of Douglas Dumbrille, Karen Morley and others. The film opened today at the Ohio.

"Sing You Sinners."

Bing Crosby heads the Ritz bill for three days when his film "Sing You Sinners," opens there tomorrow. Fred MacMurray is costarred with the crooner, but two other players, Donald O'Connor as the third of a trio of boys, and Elizabeth Patterson as the mother, share acting honors. It's a family story in which three boys are educated for musical careers and their small but mighty mother is determined that they stick to it. Ellen Drew and MacMurray carry the romance theme. Jane Withers, Gloria Stuart and Henry Wilcoxon in "Keep Smiling" is the second feature.

"Professor Beware."

Harold Lloyd as a college professor in search of some lost tablets has a hectic, cross-country, marathon romance in "Professor Beware," coming to the Majestic Sunday for two days. It's not until the lady who makes his heart palpitate communes with the spirits of a long-dead Egyptian princess that they find the key to happiness. Phyllis Welch is the girl and fog-voiced Lionel Stander carries the comedy support. "The Texans," a glorified western, with Joan Bennett, Randolph Scott, May Robson and Walter Brennan is also on the Majestic bill.

"Slave Ship."

You'll go a long way before you find a bigger box office cast than that in "Slave Ship," which will be shown for three days at the Park, starting tomorrow, for it has Wallace Beery, Warner Baxter and Mickey Rooney. Add to them Elizabeth Allen, Jane Darwell, George Sanders and Joseph Schildkraut and you have 100 per cent ability. It is a dramatic tale of the days when ships were loaded with cargoes of human misery, and the climax sends the last slave ship to Davey Jones' locker. "The Headleys at Home," a family picture, rounds out the program.

GERMANY -- SIX YEARS UNDER HITLER'S RULE

Reichsbank Placed Behind Nazi Economic Program In Swift Move by Dictator.

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of dispatches in connection with observance next Monday of the sixth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's rise to power).

By PAUL KECSKEMETI
(United Press Correspondent)

BERLIN—Germany begins the seventh year of Nazi rule next Monday with a new financial and economic era.

In an internationally important move, Fuehrer Adolf Hitler last week ended what might be termed the first era of Nazi finances by dismissal of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, known throughout the world's money capitals as a brilliant but fundamentally orthodox financier, from his post as head of the Reichsbank.

The importance of appointment of Minister of Economics Walther Funk to the Reichsbank post remains to be disclosed, but it has been regarded generally as opening a new era in which the full strength of the Reichsbank will be put behind the Nazi economic program and the drive to make Germany economically and politically dominant in central and southeastern Europe.

Hikes Internal Debt.

Methods used by the Nazis to finance Germany's domestic production boom have included:

1—Debt revision, which has about halved the nation's foreign debt but boosted the internal debt from $3,000,000,000 in 1932 to an official figure of $10,000,000,000 and a neutral estimate of $20,000,000,000.

2—Tax measures, which have more than doubled taxes since 1929.

3—Pump priming, which has absorbed the funds raised by taxation increased indebtedness.

Foreign creditors and especially American creditors, have borne a part of the expenses involved.

In 1932, Germany owed about 20 000,000,000 marks ($5,000,000,000) to foreign countries; early in 1938, the foreign debt was only 10,000,000,000 marks. This reduction, however, was effected only in small part by actual repayment and more by depreciation of foreign currencies.

Germany's debt to the United States now is estimated at less than 2,000,000,000 marks ($800,000,000) although exact figures are not available.

Another source for that boom was pump-priming, but exact figures on the extent of pump-priming in Germany are unavailable.

Taxes, however, have increased. Reich, state and municipal taxes since 1932 rose from 10,213,000,000 to 22,000,000,000 marks.

Mix Romance, Comedy In Films

The famous Blue Grass country with its tradition of beautiful women, fast horses and mint juleps that are something more than a concoction, is the background for romance and racing in "Kentucky," a Technicolor picture opening today at the Ohio with Loretta Young and Richard Greene, shown in the top photo. That the well laid plans of mice and men frequently go haywire is demonstrated in "Paris Honeymoon," coming to the Madison at a midnight show today. Bing Crosby (lower photo) lays plans to go to Paris to marry a countess, (Shirley Ross, left), but instead rents a castle and gets a disturbing little peasant girl with it—who messes up the marriage plans. Franciska Gaal, right, is the peasant.

OK'S TRANSFER OF CITY FUNDS

State Action Brings Purchase of 2 City Trucks Step Nearer.

The purchase of two new trucks for the garbage department was one step nearer realization today as the state tax commission in Columbus authorized the city to transfer $1,900 from the special can deposit fund to the garbage fund.

City Solicitor Marion D. Ward said the transfer now hinged on the approval of common pleas court with which he intends to file a petition within the next few days.

Council at a meeting Dec. 27 authorized Ward to file the petition, seeking funds to finance the purchase of equipment to replace that now in service.

GALION — Mrs. John Koons was admitted to the Good Samaritan hospital Friday for an emergency operation

LAST 'ROUND-UP'

Dog Warden Hits Trail For Tagless Pets, Owners.

County Dog Warden William Miller started his annual "round-up" today of dog owners who have neglected or refused to buy 1939 tags for their pets.

Although 5,000 tags have been sold, more than at the same time last year, Miller said he was convinced there are scores of dogs that are still without tags, and he plans to do something about it. The deadline for 1939 licenses was Jan. 20.

When the warden finds a dog with an out-of-date tag or none at all, he warns the animal's owner that a tag must be purchased if the dog is permitted to run loose.

If a second investigation reveals that the warning was ignored, or the owner flatly refuses to buy a tag, then the violator may be brought into court, Miller said.

A $1 penalty is added to the price of tags purchased now.

RESERVE BOARD, RAIL REPORTS CHEER MARKET

Stocks Continue Recovery Trek With Fractional Gains; Store Sales Hold Own.

NEW YORK—Stocks resumed their recovery trek in today's market proceedings.

Fractional gainers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Chrysler, N. Y. Central, U. S. Rubber, Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda and Standard Oil of N. J.

A constructive market straw was seen in the federal reserve board's trade report which disclosed department store sales throughout the country, for the week ended Jan. 21, held about even with the corresponding period last year.

Helpful were estimates of railroad executives that traffic and revenues of most transportation systems were running well ahead of a year ago. At the same time, statistical sources figured steel rail orders from the roads in the first 24 days of January amounted to approximately 250,000 tons. In the entire 1938 month contracts for rails aggregated only 65,550 tons.

DRIVERS IGNORE TRAFFIC DRIVE

had been parked overtime in a restricted zone.

At Walnut and West Third streets, a car was parked partly over the cross walk and persons were forced to walk out in the street to get past the machine.

At the next corner a car was parked snugly against a fire hydrant. (It was still there a half hour later.)

Around the corner, a machine was parked directly in front of a theater entrance. The city ordinance prohibits such parking when the theater is open. It also includes any other public buildings or hotels.

Across the street we spotted a double violation—a machine pulled up in front of a hotel entrance, headed the wrong way on the street. Beside it, also headed in the wrong direction and in the middle of the street so that traffic was blocked in the center of the intersection was a taxicab.

On Main street, there was a truck parked across the cross walk and a little further down the street, two automobiles were parked in a bus stop zone.

Even at the city hall there were numerous violations. City employes' cars were parked on the sidewalks, over the crosswalks and frequently double parked cars without a driver.

The city maintains a parking lot at the rear of the building and William J. Beer, council clerk who has charge of the rental says that it is never used much because of the couple dollars a month that it costs employes to leave cars there.

Chileans Face Starvation, Quake Toll Up To 30,000

THOUSANDS OF BODIES STILL IN WRECKAGE

Reports From Disaster Scene Declare Scarcity of Food Serious Problem.

(By Associated Press)

SANTIAGO, CHILE— Starvation threatened today the survivors of Tuesday night's earthquake which took, it was indicated as more and more reports arrived from isolated communities, more than 30,000 lives, making it one of the worst single disasters in the world's recorded history.

The first survivors reaching the outside world from the leveled town of Cauquenes—where 2,500 persons were killed and 2,500 injured—reported that hundreds of children were starving and that the situation was "desperate." Cauquenes' population was 10,000. Not one building was left intact.

Find Serious Scarcity.

The United Press Radio Technician Rodrigues Johnson returned to Santiago from Concepcion, one of the large towns hard hit by the quake, and reported the food siutation so acute that Armando Cosani, United Press staff correspondent, and his assistants, had had nothing to eat in two days, and that only minute amounts of drinking water were available.

Thousands of bodies were still buried in the debris of ruined buildings. A hot summer sun hastened natural decomposition, adding immeasurably to the threat of epidemic.

The government ordered all survivors evacuated from the ruined cities and towns of south central Chile as quickly as possible and concentrated on repairing highways and railroads so as to bring about the evacuation as quickly as possible.

The entire region was under strict military law and drastic orders were issued to deal with every phase of the emergency. Looters were summarily shot. Food supplies were exporpriated for government distribution. Wells and other sources of fresh water were taken over by troops. Troops were digging new wells.

Refugees were arriving in Santiago by plane, car and truck. Many were injured. Three thousand beds had been made ready for the injured and authorities were preparing more.

In the streets of this city, where the quake did no damage, sorrow could be seen in many faces because the quake took victims from thousands upon thousands of families.

Bricker Calls On Ohio Newspapers To Aid His Rule

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Gov John W. Bricker left his door open to the press today and called on Ohio newspapers to aid him in administering good government.

Asserting that the press was the "most potent force in molding public opinion today," the new Republican governor told publishers at a banquet concluding the Ohio News-paper association's convention last night that he felt confident they were as interested as he in good government.

He declared that he would go ahead with his program of an economical, business-like administration regardles of an opposition, adding:

"If the ultimate purpose of a program is honest, I feel that it will be commended by the people.

"My philosophy of government is that there will be no secrets, no closed doors upon the truth. It is the right of the people to know what is going on."

Bricker asserted that Ohio today was subject to the federal government more than ever before and urged publishers to remain alert and strive for "more liberal days and greater rights on the part of the individual citizen."

It must be the Bromfield influence. When Arnold Lehnhart, Mansfield singer who has been in New York for a number of years, came home this week for a three-week vacation, he was called out of bed early the first morning by an enterprising realtor who wanted to know if he didn't want to buy one of the swankiest homes in Woodland. Arnold isn't staying in Mansfield and he isn't interested in farms or homes. He is still soloist at the Episcopal church of the Holy Angels in New York. The Continentals, of which he was a member when they were with the Beatrice Lilly-Bert Lahr-Eleanor Powell show, has disbanded, and one of its members, John Payne, is now one of Hollywood's fairhaired boy's.

TWO KIDNAPERS FACING CHAIR

N. Y. Pair Convicted In Case Of Fried, Abducted And Burned In Furnace.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Death sentences will be passed Monday on Demetrius Gula and Joseph A. Sacoda, both 27, culminating one of the strangest kidnaping cases ever solved by J. Edgar Hoover's federal bureau of investigation.

They were convicted last night under a five-year-old state kidnaping statute that had never been used before and was used in this case because no corpus delicti could be established to prosecute them for a murder. They fed their victim's body to a furnace in which it was entirely consumed.

They kidnaped Arthur Fried, 32, White Plains, N. Y., sand dealer, from his automobile on the night of Dec. 4, 1937, held him prisoner for four days in Sacoda's tenement apartment, shot him and disposed of the body in the basement of the Ukrainian hall, where Gula's father, Denis, was manager.

Police had not found a single clue to Fried's disappearance when last Nov. 1, almost a year later, G-Men turned over to them the two prisoners and announced that they had committed three kidnapings in this vicinity, two of which never had been reported.

The other victims were Benjamin Farber, 33, kidnaped last April 8, and Norman Miller, 19, kidnaped July 24. Both were released after ransom had been paid. Farber's family paid $1,300; Miller's, $13,000.

DEWEY SCORES IN RACKET CASE, JUDGE REJECTS DEFENSE PLEA

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—A favorable court ruling enabled District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, to proceed today in chronological order with his story of the Dutch Schultz lottery racket and his evidence against Tammany Leader James J. Hines, who is on trial charged with having sold the racketeers political protection.

Judge Charles G. Nott overruled a motion by defense attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker that Dewey be compelled to produce evidence indicating that Hines had some connection with Schultz's conspiracy to monopolize the racket, before he had witnesses give details of the racket itself.

At Hines' first trial, which ended Sept. 13, Judge Ferdinand Pecora granted such a request, this had forced Dewey to change his tactics and produce one of his star witnesses in the beginning.

Judge Nott, however, favored Dewey's method of building up the case "step by step."

Dewey proceeded then by calling a parade of minor witnesses who told how they had operated independent lottery banks until Schultz appeared on the scene with strong arm squads and seeming immunity from the law, and took over their business. Two such witnesses yesterday were Wilfred Brunder and Camile Monsanto.

Monsanto made the first implication of Schultz's political protection. He said he was working in one of the gang's lottery banks when it was raided by police and he and others were caught redhanded with lottery slips. They were dismissed by Magistrate Frances J. Erwin, now dead but formerly named by Dewey as one of the officials under Hines' influence.

Stryker also announced a new defense policy. In cross-examining Monsanto, he demanded to know whether lotteries were not operating now. His purpose, he said, was to show that the racketeers never needed any protection from Hines because they had never ceased to flourish.

SENATORS CALL CHIEF OF ARMY STAFF TO STAND

Extensive Inquiry Launched As Committee Hears of Agreement With France.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate military affairs committee planned today to ask Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staff, for the "inside story" of the negotiations whereby France is purchasing latest type American military planes with the full co-operation of the government.

Revelation that this government was co-operating with French representatives seeking to buy the latest-type planes, resulted in the committee's decision to inquire extensively into the roles being played by the war, navy and treasury departments.

William C. Bullitt, U. S. ambassador to France, was revealed to have requested the co-operation of President Roosevelt and federal agencies in extending aid to a French mission planning to spend $65,000,000 on American-constructed planes.

Urged Assistance.

The president, it was learned urged the war, navy and treasury departments to "assist" the French representatives, although army officers frowned on the plan, their civilian superiors, it was understood, permitted the Frenchmen to inspect equipment which has not been passed upon by the war department.

Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, jr., and Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring testified at a secret committee meeting yesterday. They were "invited" to return today to hear Craig's explanation.

But Chairman Morris Sheppard (D., Tex.) said that their testimony revealed that an active naval officer, Capt. Sydney M. Kraus, of the navy aeronautics bureau, had been assigned temporarily to the procurement division of the treasury to aid French officials, and that the treasury had arranged for Paul Chemidlin, a member of the French mission, to be a passenger on the new Douglas light diving bomber that crashed during a test flight over Los Angeles last Monday.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Ex-Mansfielder to Be Buried Monday In Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Columbus for John H. Welsh, 59, former Mansfield resident and Pennsylvania railroad engineer, who was killed Wednesday night in Toledo. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery in Columbus.

Mr. Welsh suffered a fractured skull when his head struck a viaduct as he was climbing the tender of the engine on which he was working.

He left Mansfield 27 years ago, and had been employed with the Pennsylvania railroad for the past 34 years. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and a charter member of Mansfield lodge No. 341, Loyal Order of Moose.

Surviving are his wife Hedwig of Columbus; a son Harold of Parkersburg, W. Va., and three sisters, Mrs. R. E. Imhoff, Mrs. J. W. Fisher and Mrs. J. P. McDevitt and a brother U. W. Welsh all of Mansfield.

RICHLAND SALES TAX ON CLIMB

Gain of $1,131 Shown As Compared With Same Period of 1938.

Collection of sales tax receipts in Mansfield and Richland county for the week ending Jan. 14 show an increase of $1,131 over the same week of last year, according to a report issued today by Don H. Ebright, state treasurer.

This year's collection of tax receipts in the county for that week were $8,048, while those for the same week last year were $6,917.

The total gain of the first two weeks of this year over those of 1938, however, was considerably smaller. Last year the county paid $15,272 in sales tax receipts from the first of the year to Jan. 14, and this year the receipts were $15,544, a gain of $272.

Not That It Matters

Comment on the Spanish War, Cinderella Girl Who Got Fortune, Definitions

—By JANE WILLIAMS

AS THE PROSPECT of a complete insurgent victory in Spain comes nearer, it becomes increasingly difficult to figure out what that victory will mean. The very naive believe that there will be a happy ending, with England loaning Spain the money to pay off her blood-bond to Germany and Italy, with complete rout of the Communists, the peasants and the laborers, and the restoration of the monarchy and the Church.

But you can bet that the Reichsfuehrer and Il Duce have other plans. It is all a little confusing when you try to remember that Hitler and Mussolini aided the Spanish forces that represented the old monarchy and the Church, when the former hates them both and the latter has scant respect or tolerance for them.

They've both strung along with the Spanish insurgents, filled with a gleeful conviction that when Franco's army is victorious, they will walk in and divide the spoils.

But right at this point it is beginning to dawn on the gentleman with the heavy lower jaw that it's a horse on him.

OSTENSIBLY, both dictators have been working together to aid Gen. Franco and his army; Italy sending in troops and equipment, with Germany sending in her best technical experts. While Italian soldiers have been dying on Spanish battlefields, German representatives have been edging into industrial, financial and economical phases of insurgent Spain. So that even if England should foot the bill and both Italy and Germany are driven out without territory—the German "technical advisers" will still have a strong foothold.

As it is, Germany's bill against Spain is much larger now than Italy's—although Italy has done all of the "dying for a cause."

It is much too early to hope or predict that the two dictators may want to slit each other's throats before the Spanish problem is settled—which would be the perfect solution to much of Europe's troubles.

TO THE LADIES: News stories this week referred to 37-year-old Helen Weyant, who inherited Jake Ruppert's millions as the "Cinderella Girl." Only a quarter of a century ago Miss Weyant would have been referred to as a "middle-aged friend" of the baseball colonel. And most certainly would have been an "old maid" instead of a Cinderella Girl.

That's what women have accomplished for themselves in the past 25 years. By coddling their skin and hair, by taking good care of their teeth and streamlining their figures, and by having electric power do most of their former hard work in the home, women have outsmarted Father Time. The very term, "old maid" is obsolete.

And Romance (capital letter, please, operator) has taken cognizance of this longer-youth movement. America's No. 1 bachelor, Nelson Eddy, has just married the lady of his heart, who admits at least 40 years. Then that modern Helen of Troy, the Duchess of Windsor, was the world's best known Glamour Gal after she was 40.

Things certainly have changed since Grammah was a gal. It was an axiom then that women grew old much faster than men, but today, look at the men of 30 who are commencing to get bald—

Oh, well, no use going into that.

* * *

THE New York Sun simplifies the definitions of the various "isms" in the world today, so that even you and I may know what we're talking about. To-wit:

"Socialism—You have two cows; you give one to your neighbor.

"Communism—You have two cows and give both to the government and the government gives you the milk.

"Fascism—You keep both cows and give the government the milk and the government sells part of it back to you.

"Nazi-ism — The government shoots you and takes both cows.

"New Dealism — The government shoots one cow, milks the other and pours the milk down the sewer."

Well, at least New Dealism pays you for the cow it shoots, and imports milk from other countries.

A LOT of people seem to think that if Prime Minister Chamberlain has his way about it, old John Bull's first name will be changed to Ferdinand, with a bunch of daisies for a crest.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Nation Ought to Guard Against Use of Income Tax Law For Coercion

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The troubles of the income tax payer long have been a source of crude mirth to those who like to jest at wounds, but the discussion has now taken a new turn. The president's proposal to tax the salaries of state, county and municipal employes and the income from securities issued by the states and their subdivisions is examined with suspicion as a cunning and shysteresque design of the federal government to destroy the states themselves. Theoretically congress might attempt this by fixing the tax rate on the income from these securities at a prohibitive figure. Congress might also tax the income of churches, which now enjoy exemption not only as to contributions but also as to profits on commerce conducted by religious bodies.

Congress might choke off contributions to the churches by refusing to permit deduction of such sums from the income of the donors. The income tax amendment contains a power of mischief which was foreseen in part and viewed with alarm in some of the debates which preceded its adoption.

Of itself the present proposal obviously is no tax on the states or their subdivisions. When a governor, mayor, judge or commissioner cashes his pay check the money is his and the tax burden falls on him, not his employer. Similarly, the owner of a bond, and not the authority which sold it to him, is the victim when the time comes to pay the tax on the income from it. There are those who frankly argue that the states, in the main, have failed to meet their responsibilities and, under the political temptations set forth by the New Deal, have become parasites on one another and that the vast and inefficient spread of taxing bodies within the states has become an unbearable burden.

The honest way to meet that issue would be to talk it out and vote it out on its merits, but the shyster mentality would not do it that way. The cunning way of creating changes, the way of Adolf Hitler, the way of our Communists and their fellow-travelers, too, is to use an existing law to obtain results which were not intended by the law in the first place.

The income tax law never was intended as a weapon of political coercion, for example, but has been so used in the last few years and may yet be used for the same motive to destroy the native American press through pressure on the advertisers. The press could be killed off by a law disallowing as business expense the sums of money which advertisers spend to sell their goods. The income tax was not intended and not even the most cautious statesman foresaw that it might be used to kill the American press for criticizing the New Deal.

Nor was it intended to intimidate individuals in the exercise of their constitutional right to petition congress, but last year Senator Minton, of Indiana, obtained from the White House authority to examine the income tax returns of all citizens whom he might accuse of lobbying on an issue close to the heart of the administration.

To be sure, mere examination of an honest return should cause no embarrassment, but it has been observed that Senator Minton did not summon Jimmy Roosevelt, the president's son, as a lobbyist and that Jimmy did not exactly clamor for an opportunity to reconcile his claim of high ethics with his admission that he telegraphed to Warm Springs requesting good treatment for a guest of the president-elect who was important to him in a business way. Senator Minton himself, whose own tax return would be no less interesting than those of citizens who had the effrontery to petition the congress which he adorns, did not set an example by throwing his own return on the table.

Wright called upon the businessmen to "recharge your battery of courage" and to show optimism around which all communities are built.

He said that the country needed leaders, "leaders who have the courage to turn defeatism in the hearts of associates into courage."

Bromfield, Mansfield-born novelist and author who has returned to Richland county to make his home after more than 20 years abroad, was honored at the dinner which was in the form of an official "welcome back to the old home town."

Introduced by Old Boss.

Introduced by H. G. Brunner, state manager of the HOLC and his former boss on the old Mansfield Shield and Banner, Bromfield said he had not intended to return from Europe until next year, but unrest "caused by Mr. Hitler, made up my mind sooner" than he had expected.

"When I decided to settle down, naturally my heart said Richland county," the novelist added. "To come back to Mansfield is like returning to paradise."

The chamber paid tribute to Williams, secretary-manager for the past four and a half years, who resigned to become managing director of the Dayton chamber, in the form of a resolution.

The resolution expressed the chamber's sincere gratitude for Williams' accomplishments and extended the organization's best wishes for success in his new venture. It was presented by H. W. Arlin, president of the resolutions committee, and was adopted by unanimous vote.

Judge Huston in formally turning the presidency of the chamber over to his successor, C. L. VanDerau, works manager of the Westinghouse plant, said in part:

"A community must give something more than well wishes or express that the officers of the Chamber of Commerce may be able to wrought miracles, and make of a community the kind they hope to enjoy without participating in any manner in making their ideal community become one of reality."

He declared that the C. of C. for many years "has been the spearhead of the city's forward drive for community growth—for community development. A work not spectacular and the major portion of which is not observed by the public."

through history. They partook of greatness and became great.

"You must believe in yourself as real. One of the greatest illusions in history is the modern belief that the individual is nothing and the mass is all. In Europe, dictators say the state is everything, and we can see the tragedy of that philosophy," he declared.

"It's a power world we're living in, and one of the curses of the modern age is the development of personalities geared so high that we have no use for them. There are so many half-baked people who are superficially intelligent and cannot control the power in their hands that certain forces are getting out of control.

"In the molding of a successful life, you must remember three essentials. You must pay the price for what you get, you need faith, and you must develop character.

"The world exacts a price for success, and the amount of it depends on your goal and the route you take. But the law of compensation requires that you give in return for all you receive.

"You need faith. Monuments are built to men who championed an ideal and believed in a thing so much that it became an obsession with them. Great thinkers have given us new worlds that are still to be conquered."

A. H. Fankhauser, board of education member, presented diplomas to the 92 graduates as they filed past him on the stage while Principal Jesse Beer read their names.

William Fishback, first honor student in the class, paid tribute to Superintendent Miller, the board of education and teachers in his salutation.

Miss Kathleen MacIntosh, member of the class, sang "One Fine Day" from the opera "Madame Butterfly," and the entire class sang a number composed by Richard Tapper, another member of their group.

Rev. Paul H. Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church, gave the invocation and benediction. The high school orchestra, directed by S. K. Jorgensen, played as members of the class marched into the auditorium and out again at the close of the ceremonies.

Members of the class, which includes 48 boys and 44 girls, are:

breath. Her organization included at least 100 leaders—a captain for every ward in the city and a contact worker for every precinct in four wards, as well as women enough to stage a house-to-house canvas.

But more important than that was the registration of almost 2,000 voters who had failed to vote in the August election because they had moved, or were newcomers in the city, and providing transportation for hundreds of voters on election day. School officials believe that it was the recruiting of these transfers that turned the tide of votes in favor of the bond issue.

"It was a big job," Mrs. Boals said, "but you know how women are when they are vitally interested in a project. And the school bond issue so vitally concerned our children. Everyone got out and worked. As a matter of fact, our plans for a school bond campaign were laid as early as last February. It was only after the primary election that we realized that it was the people who didn't vote who had defeated the issue. So we concentrated on them for the special election.

"But to me, the whole thing just seemed a part of my job as head of the council. I've been in Parent-Teacher work for 17 years. I was a member of three associations at one time—that was when David was in Senior High, Jeanne in Junior High and Marjorie in Brinkerhoff.

"I think I was the first president of the Prospect Mothers club a number of years ago, and it was while I was in the Western Avenue group that we converted the Mothers club into a Parent-Teacher association. Now David is junior in pre-medical school at Ohio State, Jeanne has graduated and Marjorie is at Senior High.

"When she finishes school I'll be out of P-T-A work. But I'll do something else then. I'm interested in Girl Scout work and perhaps I can work with that organization."

You can bet she'll "do something," because she's the type that wouldn't be contented to rest on her oars and devote herself to social activities. In addition to her "home work," and her council work, she writes for the Ohio Bulletin, official paper of the state P-T-A.

Helen Boals is a native of the city which has just honored her for her civic achievement. Her grandfather was Jacob Wentz who was the stone contractor for the construction of the old Vonhoff hotel, the original building of which was one of Mansfield's first hostelries.

A Tribute to Mansfield Women.

SELECTION of Mrs. F. David Boals as recipient of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce's annual achievement award for 1938 was a tribute to the earnestness and effectiveness with which a large number of Mansfield women enter upon the performance of any civic task in which their interest is aroused.

As was graciously acknowledged by Mrs. Boals in accepting the award, it was the willing and untiring work of many other women associated with her in support of the school bond issue that carried the proposal to success in the special election last fall.

In every civic enterprise looking to community advancement there is requirement for organization and leadership. With a number of these it is essential that women either take the initiative or lend co-operation in carrying through projects which have been suggested but not brought to completion.

Unified efforts of Mansfield men and women, brought together under determined and efficient leadership, are capable of any civic improvement that it is decided to carry through.

Congratulations to Mrs. Boals, on the public recognition accorded her fine work, also extend to the women of Mansfield who assisted her in a worthy accomplishment.

What has been done may well provide inspiration for things that are yet to be done for the betterment of Mansfield—things in which women of the city can exert an important influence.

Looking Backward to Look Ahead.

NINETY-TWO boys and girls were graduated last evening from Mansfield Senior high school, at what is called "commencement"—which means a beginning.

With the much larger class to be graduated in June, the year's total of young people completing the course in Mansfield's public schools will be well above three hundred.

Because the class just graduated matches so closely the graduating class of 1914—just twenty-five years ago—it has been interesting to look back at the roll of that class and to consider what has happened in the meantime.

In the class of 1914 there were 94 graduates—51 boys and 43 girls. In this January class there are 48 boys and 44 girls. But at that earlier time, some will recall, there was no mid-year graduation and the 94 represented the total for the year.

Without making reference to individuals, it may be suggested to members of the present graduating class that a study of the roster of the class of 1914 gives an excellent idea of what may be confidently expected of these younger people who are facing the future with hope, not unmixed with trepidation.

Among these graduates of 25 years ago, now aged in the early 40's, we find an ideal cross section of excellent citizenship—as would probably be found in analysis of lists of other classes of high school graduates who have since had time to place themselves in chosen vocations.

Among the boys in the class of 1914, as was natural, a considerable percentage were in some branch of war service, after which a number completed college courses, entered various of the professions or found places in business or industry in which creditable records are being made. Medicine, the law, and dentistry drew upon the class of 1914 for recruits—and at least one in the list attained prominence as a writer.

Among the girls of M. H. S. 1914, are found names of many fine women of present-day Mansfield, or with homes established in other cities. There may even be some of these who have a son or daughter among this year's graduates—or, possibly, the boy or girl may already be in college.

What may surprise youthful graduates is that their predecessors also had problems and encountered difficulties—and that the very same qualities that contributed to success or failure 25 years ago—or 50 years ago—haven't changed to the slightest extent.

They may also be somewhat amazed by the assertion that today's opportunities for young people are greater than at any time in the past—that is, for those of them who have what it takes.

Killing Off Russian Slackers.

THERE is now a drive in Soviet Russia to purge the nation of laziness. Perhaps that is the toughest problem of all. The Bolshevik masters could teach the people propaganda, and could even get a fair amount of production out of them as long as their Communist enthusiasm lasted. But when it settled down to the long grind necessary to bring a vast nation up from ignorance and primitive living to the level of western nations, the system failed.

The converts got tired and lost their enthusiasm. The farmers began slacking and sabotaging because they resented having their crops taken away from them and given to city people, and the industrial workers got tired of the long grind and slow progress.

Russians are great talkers but not very good workers. They lack industry and perseverance. So now loafers, among executives and in the ranks, are liable to be jailed or shot for failure to produce their quota.

It is a new phase of the Russian revolution, and one boding ill for the greatest experiment in making people over that the modern world has seen. The Communist masters have reverted to the methods of the old czars. The people are driven to labor as their forefathers were driven to war. Instead of the ancient knout and gallows, there are now the prison and firing squad.

Suggestion: There'll probably still be time to read "Gone With the Wind" before the English Scarlett attains that southern accent.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Back of the flurry about helping business is one solid problem — how to transfer from the shoulders of the government to the shoulders of business the task of supporting the national economy.

"Primping the pump" is successful when it generates private buying of a truly sustaining nature. In 1936-37 it brought up the spending level, but competent trade analysts since have discovered.

1. The buying increase was mainly in the field of consumer goods (groceries, clothes).

2. Purchase of capital goods (those intended for plant expansion) were one-fourth below the level which sustained the prosperity of the happy twenties.

3. Much of the buying of capital goods actually reported in 1936 and 1937 was merely for replacements long deferred, and did not represent new capital invested in the hope of profit.

Study 'Indigestion' Causes.

PROF. SUMNER H. SLICHTER of the Harvard business school, and other economists, have been digging into treasury figures, bank reports, industrial tables and other places where symptoms of business indigestion show up.

They found that it wasn't government alone, nor labor, nor unsteady dollars, nor war scares, nor consumer revolt, that caused the 1937-1938 slump. Instead it was a combination of all these.

While many big corporations reported profits, the 400,000 smaller corporations important to industrial America were making thin profits or none at all.

So the transfer from government spending to private spending fell short of success. Last year it was started all over again.

Has Ideas for Improvement.

SLICHTER, although often critical of the policies of the present administration, says the task of transferring the prosperity to a private basis is primarily one for private business managers. They must test new methods. He says lowering prices offers limited relief because the price level of finished goods already is below the 1929 level.

Boosting prices won't work, he adds, pointing out that while labor income increased during 1936-37, purchases of consumer goods did not increase correspondingly.

Slichter advises that wage scales be revised to allow the business manager to lower costs and thus go after new business. Hosiery workers have co-operated notably, he said. He cites rail wage scales as obsolete, asserting that they discourage railroad managers from running faster, lighter trains.

Railroads further are troubled, he said, by small blocs of security holders who hinder needed capital reorganizations. (There are moves afoot in congress aimed at remedying that.)

His analysis also puts the bee on government to help encourage business. He advocates completion of utility industry reform, fairer rules of competition between public and private utility enterprises, and tax reforms.

Most important he places reduction in costs of housing. Manufacturers of automobiles, radios and furniture have lowered prices sharply in 10 years, while vastly improving the product. But housing costs, he says, have increased sharply.

He estimated an annual expenditure of $14,000,000,000 on capital goods and housing might reasonably be developed in two three or four years—with consequent full time new employment for 8,000,000 men at good wages.

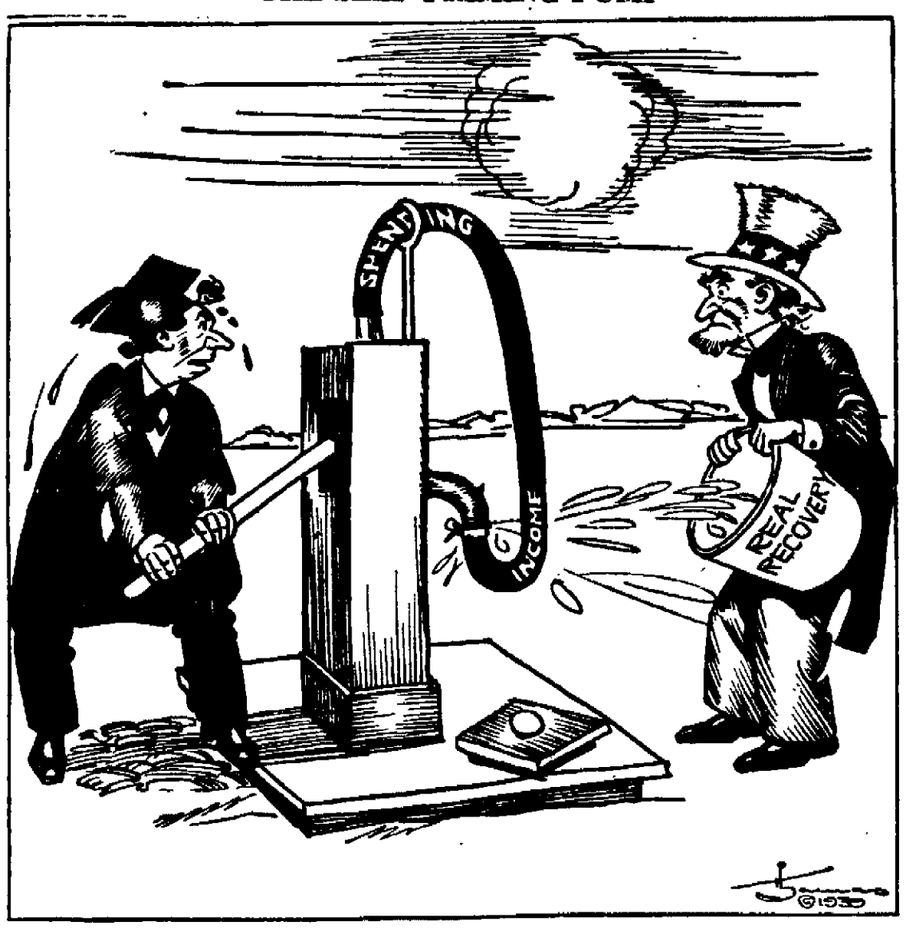
THE SELF PRIMING PUMP



Medical Insurance Is Live Issue

—By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON—Who should sponsor medical insurance for the millions—Uncle Sam or the nation's organized doctors?

That's the real issue behind the medical headlines so often seen on the nation's front pages these days.

Through the American Medical Association, the doctors argue they are qualified by experience to organize and supervise medical insurance for the public. They insist government in medicine will lead to a politicians' quest for votes instead of adequate medical care for the needy. And they charge that a governmental system would set up an undemocratic bureaucracy and a wasteful and costly tax collection.

On the other hand, the master minds in four great federal departments are sure that federal and state governments jointly should take over medical insurance.

These departments are the Treasury, with its Public Health Service; the Labor Department, long a special pleader for low wage groups; the Social Security Board, the biggest mass insurance enterprise in the world: and the Department of Agriculture, charged with the protection of farm populations, which now receive inadequate medical care.

Another government agency, the Department of Justice, is adding to the furors by putting the medical association on trial for breaking the monopoly laws. The charge is the association tried to block Group Health, Inc., a medical insurance experiment endowed with a $40,000 federal subsidy and run by Government workers here in Washington on a voluntary basis.

Both Agree on Principles.

STRANGE as it may seem, the feuding doctors and the Government departments publicly see eye to eye on all the basic principles.

They agree that the millions to worry about are the families whose incomes are $3,000 a year and less. . . . That these people are not now receiving proper care . . . That emergency illness is often financially disastrous to families with low incomes.

Likewise they both cheerfully approve the extension of such government services as maternal and child aid, preventive medicine, venereal disease control, research, compensation for sick workers and the like.

Most important, they also agree on the principle of medical insurance.

The government departments tentatively okayed the idea a year ago, and so reported to the President, who called a national health conference. The conference was non-committal, but the Government departments, through an "interdepartmental committee to coordinate welfare and health activities," reaffirmed their allegiance the other day in a special report to the President.

Mr. Roosevelt, incidentally, is not publicly carrying the torch for his interdepartmental committee, or for the doctors—as yet. It's his position that the health of the people is a public concern, and he wants a national health program of some kind. Meanwhile, he merely recommends the report of his subordinates to Congress for careful study. To the political wiseacres, that means the President doesn't think medical insurance is ripe as a political issue—not just yet.

The medical association's powerful House of Delegates approved last fall the development by medical men of "cash indemnity insurance plans to cover in whole or in part the costs of emergency or prolonged illness."

Medical societies in several cities, including Washington, Atlanta, and Denver, have embarked on the sea of medical insurance. Some 50 other state and local societies are starting out.

* * *

Where They Differ.

SO THE medical squabblers are agreed on broad principles. But right there, harmony ends, and bitter disagreement begins.

Should medical insurance be voluntary or compulsory? The doctors say voluntary, the federal departments, compulsory. The Government men dodge that word "compulsory" as often as they can, but privately most of them admit their plan requires at least state government compulsion.

Should medical insurance be limited, or should it cover all, or nearly all illnesses, from the mumps to cancer? The federal group wants wide coverage; the doctors want to budget merely for prolonged or emergency illness.

The governmental committee says the tastes should take the initiative and pass laws to fit their own needs. The federal government, in their view, should pass a law to provide professional standards, and financial aid. The committee says that the cost of the program would be about $100 a year for the average family of four.

It depends on whose camp you're in whether you believe that's a bargain for John Citizen.

Listen, World!

Is the Modern Young Worker Up Against "Cruel and Unusual" Problems?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DOES Modern Industry present new and peculiarly difficult problems for the young worker—problems which the average youngster can't possibly solve? Are the poor kids "licked before they start" by demands, pressures, tests and tempos which are obviously far beyond their capacity?

Ask Young America for his reactions to these questions and it's a thousand-to-one shot he'll answer with a sincere and aggrieved "YES!" And thereupon proceed to quote an endless list of "cruel and unusual" demands and penalties peculiar to the Machine Age.

"Why, you can't even start without a High School education!" he'll wail. "And in most places you're sunk unless you're a college grad. No matter how much education you've had, it's NO DICE unless you have gobs and gobs of PULL. Then if you DO get a job you're up against regiments of EFFICIENCY EXPERTS and ANALYZERS and INVESTIGATORS and HEAVEN KNOWS WHAT ELSE. What kind of a break, I askya, does THAT give a fella?"

To which argument there seems to be little or no comeback. Fact is, most of us Oldsters, remembering the simpler scenes of our own youth, have a sneaking hunch the Youngsters are right and that Junior and Sister are having a far harder time than we ever did.

BUT ARE THEY? B. C. Forbes, famous industrial expert, wonders. Starting at 14, he'd had a fairly tough work-out himself, having signed an indenture to serve an apprenticeship as "Printer's devil" for seven years at the staggering sum of 75 cents per week. But maybe he just thought it was tough? Maybe these young people now are up against things he'd never imagined?

William C. Ackerly, Secretary N. Y. Employment Managers' Association and employment manager of the N. Y. Stock Exchange, answered his questions for him. Best way, thought he, to discover what young workers were up against was to investigate the reasons for which they were fired. Check the things they were expected to do by finding where and how they had failed. Whereupon, thorough Mr. A kerly made an analysis of some 4,000 discharged clerical workers of 76 business institutions. Quite a hunk of humanity! Why had they received the little blue envelope? Was it because they lacked unusual technical training . . . or were unable to endure the tremendous speed and pressure of modern times?

NO IT WASN'T! NO SUCH MODERN, HIFALUTIN' REASONS LAY BEHIND THESE 1938 CANNINGS. TO THE CONTRARY, ONLY 10% OF THE 4,000 DISCHARGED WORKERS LOST THEIR POSITIONS THROUGH LACK OF SKILL—

WHILE 90% WERE DISCHARGED FOR THE SAME OLD ORNERY OFFENSES WHICH GAVE GRAMPA THE AIR! NAMELY—

Carelessness	14%
Non-cooperation	10%
Laziness	10%
Dishonesty	8%
Attention to outside things..	8%
Lack of initiative	7%
Lateness	7%
Lack of ambition	7%
Lack of loyalty	3%
Lack of courtesy	2%
Miscellaneous causes	14%

Quite a surprise isn't it? And here you and I had been expecting that the world had really changed! And all the time. Well, write the moral for yourself.

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

FIVE weeks ago, Spain's civil war looked like a stalemate. The Insurgents had 60 per cent of the land, but the Loyalists had 55 per cent of the people. The battle lines had changed little since last spring.

Then, two days before Christman, Gen. Franco launched his big push. Well equipped with planes, tanks and big guns, 300,000 Spaniards, Moors and Italians drove east and north from the Ebro and Segre rivers along a 100-mile front across frozen Catalonia.

This week, after advancing 80 miles in the north, the Insurgents entered Barcelona, Spain's largest city and No. 1 industrial center, the Loyalist capital since Oct. 28, 1937. And Europe asked itself: "After Spain, What?"

Collapse or Fight?

To Spanish Loyalists, that question seemed a bit premature. From shell-pocked Barcelona, refugees carried government archives and munitions machinery 50 miles northeast to Gerona, a district capital 35 miles south of the French border. "Somewhere," they said, "we will fight."

But military observers at the border believed the occupation of Barcelona would mean the collapse of Loyalist resistance and the end of the war that has cost more than 1,000,000 lives in 30 months.

"The truth," said Britain's ex-Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, "is that certain states, although pledged to non-intervention, are intervening on a scale they deem sufficient to ensure victory for Gen. Franco . . . If Franco wins, his victory is a foreign victory."

Franco's Friends.

Rome papers openly admitted Italian intervention in Spain, boasting of the help Fascist legions were giving Gen. Franco. But, the Fascist foreign office bulletin argued:

"The first Italian legionnaires disembarked at Cadiz in the winter of 1936-37, when for several months numerous so-called international brigades, recruited and formed in France, had fought on the fronts of Catalonia and Madrid."

And if France should intervene now to save the Loyalists, the article warned, Italy would back the Insurgents with still more armed might. As if to put teeth in that threat, Mussolini ordered 60,0000 of his estimated 6,700,000 army reservists to report for duty Feb. 1.

At Home

Government Grist.

Newspapermen sometimes call typewriters "mills," and Washington press agents frequently are ex-newspapermen. Grist from their mills this week included:

1. A survey by the Federal Power commission showing differences up to nearly 300 per cent in the price of electricity in various cities.

2. An announcement by Labor Secretary Perkins that federal employment agencies got jobs for 2,701,349 people last year.

3. A report by the treasury department that its secret service men arrested 3,557 persons for counterfeiting and forgery last year and seized $607,787 in phoney money.

Literary Gem.

A first edition of poems by Robert Burns, published in Scotland in 1786 and originally sold for 37 cents, was shipped by armored car from New York to Kearny, N. J., for exhibition this week at a celebration of Burns's 180th birthday anniversary. The owner, J. P. Morgan, has it insured for $30,000.

Big Blow.

While a U. S. weather official was explaining that winters aren't what they used to be because we're in the mild phase of a "weather cycle," a toe-curling storm hit North America and Europe. At least 30 deaths were reported. Lloyds of London received SOS calls from 15 ships. Mt. Washington, N. H., observatory recorded a 128-mile gale.

Test Case.

Accused of spearing fish in violation of Indiana's game laws, two Indians cited a treaty signed Aug. 3, 1795, in which the U. S. government promised members of their tribe the right to hunt and fish as they pleased.

Abroad

Chile's Catastrophe.

Chile, nearly 3,000 miles long and less than 300 miles wide, stretches along the backbone of mountains that runs down the Pacific ocean side of lower South America. Earthquakes are frequent—often mild, sometimes terrible. Terrible was the one in 1906 which killed 1,500 people and destroyed $100,000,000 worth of property. And terrible was the one this week, which destroyed the city of Chillan and killed from 4,000 to 12,000 there and elsewhere. Disrupted communications kept the exact toll secret for days.

Tokyo Talk.

To the Japanese Diet (parliament), which convened in Tokyo last week-end, Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita formally enunciated Nippon's pan-Asia ambitions:

"What Japan desires it . . . the construction of a new east Asia . . . wherein Japan, Manchoukuo and China, while each is preserving her independence and individuality, will stand united . . . for active collaboration and mutual aid along all lines of political, economic and cultural activities."

Old Folks.

Moses, in the Bible, estimated man's life-span at "three score years and ten" but conceded that "by reason of strength," some might attain 80. In the U. S. today, according to deductions from census bureau figures, about one person in 1,750 lives more than 100 years. In the Russian Republic of Abkhasian, Soviet scientists reported this week, one in 263 claims to be 100 or older.

QUOTES

Igor Sikorsky, aircraft designer, foreseeing a peak soon in air speeds: "In my opinion there is a limit to airplane speed and we are not far from it."

Ernest T. Weir denying weakness in the steel price structure: "The present decline in buying is not serious and by early March we undoubtedly will find consumer demand upward again."

Jan Masaryk, son of the late president of Czechoslovakia, predicting the improbability of another Munich: "Very soon nothing will be left to give away except territory belonging to the great powers."

Labor

House Divided.

CIO's 375,000-member United Auto Workers union, rent by a feud between President Homer Martin and his executive board, now has:

1. Two president — Martin and "Acting President" R. J. Thomas of the anti-Martin faction;
2. Two treasurers — and a court-padlocked cashbox;
3. Two separate union headquarters in Detroit;
4. Two rank-and-file conventions scheduled—Martin's at Detroit March 4, and the anti-Martinites' at Cleveland March 27.

Martin suspended 15 of the 24 board members last week-end. The suspended majority promptly fired him and, this week, elected Thomas. CIO, speaking through Vice Presidents Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, who had tried to patch up the quarrel, gave him its "complete support and recognition." So Martin resigned from CIO's executive board.

Stars and Strikes.

Radio listeners weren't sure what program they'd get this week when they dialed for such stars as Edgar Bergen, Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Rudy Vallee and Lawrence Tibbett. Radio artists — actors, singers, announcers, producers—in four key cities had voted to strike if necessary.

Their quarrel (as members of the American Federation of Radio Artists, an AFL affiliate) was with advertising agencies that handle their programs for sponsors. The artists asked $15 minimums for 15-minute commercial broadcasts, $25 for 30 minutes, $35 for 60 minutes, plus pay for rehearsals. Most big-name stars would not benefit by such a wage scale, but they professed sympathy for the "little fellows."

Request Rejected.

A Texas pecan-shelling company asked recently for an exemption from the 25-cent minimum of the federal wage-hour law for its "learners."

The request drew not only a denial, this week, but a blistering rebuke to many of the pecan companies. After citing the relative prosperity of the industry, a wage-hour investigator reported that some of the workers received as little as $2.50 a week and were saved from starvation only by relief and charity.

People

Big Eater.

The pancreas, a pinkish mass of tissue under the stomach, secretes insulin. Insulin burns up sugar in the blood. People who don't get enough insulin may die of an excess of blood sugar. That's diabetes.

Archie Mitchell, 44, of Mound City, Kas., had just the opposite trouble. His blood sugar was burning up so fast that he had to eat almost continuously. Now, after three operations for the removal of more and more of his pancreas, he's down to three squares a day.

Comet Comment.

Leslie C. Peltier, of Delphos, O., farms by day and scans the heavens by night from his small home observatory. So far he has discovered one star and seven comets, including a new one this month.

Peltier described his new comet as a "bright nucleus surrounded by a fuzzy patch of light." Some Russian scientists who discovered it independently over central Asia said it looked like "a foggy stain with a very pale tail."
